NAVAL FLYERS SET 7 MORE WORLD RECORDS IN MEET

San Diego Contest.

TOTAL OF 17 WORLD
MARKS NOW HELD

Torpedo Plane With Added
Burden of 550 Pounds
Soars Up 12,050 Feet—Speed Tests Also Held.

By the Associated Press.
SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 8.—American naval flyers, contesting here yesterday in events never before put on an official program, established seven more world records in addition to the two they broke and the eight others they established Wednesday, making a total of 17 world's records now held by the aircraft squadrons of the battle fleet here.

What naval flyers regard as one of the most striking achievements of the day was that of an F-5-L plane, of the coastal mail type, which, piloted by Lieut. H. E. Haland, lifted an extra weight of 2000 kilograms, about 4400 pounds, to a height of 5200 feet. The total weight of the machine and load was 14,400 pounds.

Another thrilling flight for an altitude record was made by Lieut. Ralph Ostie, in a T-5 battle plane, with single seat and no extra load. He soared to a height of 18,400 feet, encountering a temperature at that altitude of 3 degrees below zero. The air was so rarified at that height that the air in the pontoons of the machine was largely sucked out and when the T-5 began to descend the pressure of the atmosphere without caved in the pontoons. Lieut. Ostie's flight established a record.

Record Set by Torpedo Plane.
Another record was set by Lieut. Earl Brix, flying a torpedo plane with an extra weight of 250 kilograms, or about 550 pounds, to an altitude of 12,050 feet.

Two records were set by Ensign E. E. Bolecek in one flight in an F-5-L plane. The machine carried an extra load of 1000 kilograms and attained an altitude of 8600 feet. As he went higher than another plane which carried only 500 kilograms extra weight, he was credited with a record for that event in addition.

Another airplane with Lieut. H. T. Stanley as pilot and Lieut. R. D. Kirkpatrick as passenger, lifted an extra load of 1500 kilograms to an altitude of 1600 feet.

Other speed tests of the day was over a three-kilometer course, and in it Boatwain E. E. Reber, piloting a torpedo plane, with a 400-horsepower Liberty motor, made an average speed of 102.8 miles an hour for three different laps. This event was won by the boatwain from Lieut. L. D. Webb, piloting a Martin observation machine. Reber's victory was only by the scant margin of one-tenth of a mile an hour. Webb made 109.65 miles an hour in his first lap, but reported that the course was "bumpy" in his later dashes around, and that he could not control his plane properly. The altitude set today will remain unofficial until the barographs used are sent to Washington for calibration.

To Try to Break Own Records.
Announcement was made that Lieut. M. A. Schur, who Wednesday broke two world distance and duration airplane records held up to that time by a British pilot, would make an attempt, starting late next Monday, to break his own records. He was up Wednesday for about 10 1/2 hours, covering a distance of 730 miles. He will try next time to remain up for 15 or 20 hours. Lieut. Schur's plan is to start at 4 p. m. Monday and remain up all night.

Heds of the New Russian "Living" Church

—Pacific & Atlantic Photograph.

ANGERED by the continued opposition to their plans by the old Orthodox Church, under the leadership of Archbishop Tikhon, whom they are about to try for treason and disloyalty, the Russian bolshevik authorities have branded the Orthodox organization as "dead" and have formed what they call the "living" church, with Bishops and leaders who will make the new church conform to their views. Here, left to right, are the hierarchs of the new church: Kravitsky, vice president of the church board; Metropolitan Peter of Siberia, and Supreme Metropolitan Antonine. All have been powerful functionaries in the old church, but their political sympathies are with the soviets. The new church has been endowed with all the property of the old.

The pylons marking the course will be illuminated for its attempt.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Lieut. Maughan, winner of the Pulitzer Trophy last autumn, arrived at Mitchell Field yesterday to prepare for his attempt to fly from New York to San Francisco between sunrise and sundown. The flight will be made between June 2 and 30 in a Curtiss pursuit plane, D-12, the army's speediest racer. Army tests have just been completed on this new machine.

Maughan plans to make the trip in five hops and will do it alone, the machine being a single seater. While the D-12 is built to make 170 miles and hour, experts predict the Pulitzer Trophy winner can get 190 miles out of the little biplane. Three hours after Maughan landed yesterday, the little ship was in the Curtiss factory at Garden City, L. I., knocked down and getting a complete overhauling. W. L. Gilmore, chief engineer at the Curtiss plant, is one of those who think Maughan will get 190 miles an hour out of it.

Lieut. Maughan's course will be 2570 miles in an almost straight line. These are the mail route stations the flyer will use and the distances between them: To McCook Field, Dayton, O., 570 miles; to St. Joseph, Mo., 570 miles; to Cheyenne, Wyo., 540 miles; to Salt Lake, Utah, 470 miles; to Crissy Field, Cal., 420 miles.

The plane will be conditioned to fly 1000 miles without repairs, unless the unexpected happens. Thirty-minute stops are planned at the fuel stations. If the program of flying is carried out Maughan will keep an average of 160 miles an hour.

Other speed tests of the day was over a three-kilometer course, and in it Boatwain E. E. ## GERMANY'S OFFER FAILS TO SATISFY THE FRENCH

ply to the memorandum such epigrams as "inadmissible," "unacceptable" and "not needing a reply." Le Matin finds that the note has the appearance of a challenge, so greatly does it fail to recognize the political situation.

Even the antimilitarist L'Ouvreuveau says the new propositions are objectionable in many ways, especially the suggestion for a moratorium of four years. In which France would receive nothing, not even the expenses of the Ruhr occupation.

The newspapers devote themselves chiefly to a discussion of whether anything more than a formal acknowledgment of the memorandum's receipt will be sent by France and Belgium, whether a joint allied reply will be dispatched or whether the allies will discuss the question in supreme council.

One point especially criticised is that the administration of the proposed guaranties would be retained in German hands; furthermore, some commentators assert, the memorandum fails to explain how a yield in paper marks can be turned into gold.

Louis Lecher's opinion. Le Petit Journal believes there are signs of certain progress in the proposal for guaranties.

The press seems to believe that the only way to obtain unanimity among the allies is to send a reply to Germany stating that a proposal can not be received before she yields to the conditions imposed upon her. In official circles much is made of the fact that Germany fails to say whether she is willing to abandon her policy of passive resistance.

Downing Street Said to Look Upon the Offer As Genuine.
LONDON, June 8.—British diplomats were reluctant today to express an opinion regarding Germany's latest reparation offer beyond saying they considered that in certain points it represented an advance over previous proposals. Until the Foreign Office experts have analyzed the fundamentals of the new note those in authority prefer not to commit themselves regarding whether, if any, Great Britain will take now toward the solution of the indemnities problem.

It can be said, nevertheless, the British Government would favor the settlement of the Allies' difficulties with Germany by an international conference or by adopting the suggestion of Secretary of State Hughes that Germany's capacity to pay be determined by a series of international commissions of experts.

In responsible quarters the assertion is made that British political circles feel the entire reparations problem could be settled by Great Britain with Germany in a fortnight except for the uncompromising attitude of France.

After the Foreign Office experts have completed their study of Berlin's latest offer the British Cabinet will consider the subject early next week.

It is learned on the highest authority that Downing Street considers the reparation note constitutes a genuine German offer, the details of which were decided upon in Berlin without any sort of negotiations with the Allies.

Belgian View of Latest German Proposals.
By the Associated Press.
BRUSSELS, June 8.—The German note embodying the latest amended proposals of that country for the settlement of reparations is couched in terms "much less arrogant" than heretofore, in the view of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

By recognizing the obligation to pay reparations the note has created a much more favorable impression than the previous proposals from Chancellor Cuno, because, for the first time in the history of the post-armistice negotiations, Germany accepts allied financial control and offers positive guaranties.

But on the other hand, the German's insistence that an international conference be called to examine the question of reparations as an entity is not acceptable to Belgian

MOUNDS PARK BILL TO PASS, SENATOR SAYS

Essington Measure Provides $50,000 for Purchase of Cahokia Property.

Passage by the Illinois Legislature of a bill appropriating $50,000 for the purchase for State park purposes of Monks' or Cahokia Mound, and 100 acres adjoining, in Madison County, between East St. Louis and Collinsville, is virtually a certainty.

State Senator T. W. Essington of Illinois said while here today with a party of Illinois Senators, who were guests of the Chamber of Commerce.

The bill, of which Senator Essington is author, passed the Senate this week. Senator Essington said he had assurances of House leaders that the House would speedily pass the bill and added that he has assurances from the Governor that the measure will be given executive approval.

The Senator explained that the appropriation provided is just half of the amount which the Ramey family, owners of Monks' Mound, which comprises 14 acres, have asked for the single mound, which is the largest in a group of about 72. The Ramey family is asking $600 an acre for land surrounding the large mound, which contains smaller ones, he said.

Senator Essington said that it is hoped Madison and St. Clair Counties will endeavor either to raise the balance necessary to make the purchase or will induce the Rameys to reduce the price.

The Illinois senatorial delegation is en route to State institutions at Chester and Murphysboro.

The party of visitors included Secretary of State Emerson, Richard J. Barr, president pro tem of the Senate, and Senators Bailey, Boyd, Buck, Carroll, Dailey, Denvir, Dunlap, Essington, Eitelson, Forrester, Gibberson, Glackin, Glenn, Hammett, Hanson, Hughes, Jewell, Joyce, Kessinger, MacMurray, Marks, Mason, Mills, Ryan, Schultz, Searey, Shaw, N. E. Smith, Sneed, Telford, Turbrough, Van Lent, Wood, Wright and Webster.

Brewery Workers Talk Strike.
About 45 members of the United Brewery Workers' Association, Local No. 402, are threatening to threaten bottling companies, threatening to go on strike today as a result of a disagreement over working hours under a contract which the union asserts provides a minimum of 44 hours a week at a wage of $24.75.

The bottling companies, according to union officials, want the men to work a maximum of five days a week at $4 a day, which is alleged to be in violation of the contract.

circles, as Germany is aware that abandonment of passive resistance in the Ruhr is the fundamental principle of a basis for negotiations.

The guaranties proposed by the note will be minutely examined by the Belgian experts and used as a basis in the exchange of ideas between Brussels and Paris as to what policy should be made to Germany.

Brussels, on the whole, has received the German note in a spirit of conciliation, but what seems an insurmountable obstacle to an immediate settlement lies in the omission of German preparedness to abandon passive resistance in the Ruhr.

Five German Children Shot to Death.
By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, June 8.—Five German children have been shot to death by members of the Franco-Belgian occupation forces since their entry into the Ruhr, according to the newspaper Die Zeitung. The ages of the children range from 7 to 16 years; two of them were girls and two apprentices to laborers. It was said. The Die Zeitung gives a list of the "victims" by name, giving the dates and localities of their deaths.

CHINA DEMANDS THAT JAPAN PAY AND APOLOGIZE

Punishment of Commander

ified in Note to Tokio.

By the Associated Press.
PEKING, June 8.—The Chinese Foreign Office today sent a note to Tokio demanding an apology, indemnities and the punishment of the Japanese commander and his marines who shot down Chinese supporters of a Japanese boycott at Changsha, Province of Hunan, June 2.

The note demands the withdrawal of Japanese gunboats from Changsha, which is a treaty port on the Siang River. Punishment of the Japanese commander and marines from the gunboats, indemnities for the families of Chinese who were shot down during the disorders, an official apology from the Japanese Government, and guaranties from Tokio that there will be no recurrence of such affairs.

The rioting at Changsha June 2 and at Shihai May 15 was the result of the movement that has swept China during the past few months for a boycott of all things Japanese in retaliation for Japan's refusal to abrogate the famous "twenty-one demands" treaty of 1915.

At both these places Chinese students and other demonstrators attempted to search Japanese vessels for Japanese goods consigned to Chinese merchants. Rioting ensued, Japanese marines were landed and a number of Chinese were killed and many wounded in the subsequent clashes.

At Changsha the Chinese mob roamed the streets destroying Japanese property and the Japanese consular staff was forced to flee for protection aboard the gunboat Fushimi.

"What is your name and address?"

"Is that man," pointing, "over there your husband?"
"Yes."

Thus was the life of James Battle, negro, legally dead since a jury's verdict May 24 last, granting Mrs. Battle $240.87 on his life insurance policy owned by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. saved.

Battle's deposition was read at the trial, stating he had been living in Indiana Harbor for a number of years since separation from his wife in 1913, and that he was quite alive and well. The jury took Mrs. Battle's word for it, however, that this Battle couldn't possibly be her husband, and awarded her erstwhile spouse a divorce.

Attorneys for the insurance company took an appeal and filed motion for a new trial. The hearing was held today in Circuit Judge Davis' Court. To further convince everybody present, Walter Mayne, defendant's attorney, had Battle, himself, speak from the witness stand. He told of his activities since his separation from Mrs. Battle in 1913.

Plaintiff's attorneys agreed they had no case. Judge Davis probably will dismiss it.

The Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce today diae public hearing on the proposed smoke ordinance now pending in the Board of Aldermen, and urged action by the Aldermen before their summer vacation, which begins about June 16. This action was taken by the directors upon the recommendation of the Chamber's Smoke Committee, of which John H. Gundlach is chairman.

It also was voted that the provision in the proposed ordinance for employment of eight inspectors, who are to be stationary engineers, at a salary of $174 a month each, be changed to five inspectors, to be mechanical engineers, at salaries of $250 a month. This latter recommendation was at the suggestion of H. E. Miller, director of Smoke Enforcement of Pittsburgh, who said the mechanical engineers would be better qualified for the jobs than stationary engineers.

NEW OFFER BRINGS GERMAN AND ALLIED VIEWS CLOSER

Text of Berlin Reparations Note Comes as Pleasant Surprise to Britain—Government May Act to Bring About Discussion.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON, London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
Copyright, 1923.

LONDON, June 8.—The text of the German note fell on London as an unexpected and pleasant surprise.

Ambassador Stannes presented the note to Marquis Curzon at the Foreign Office, at the same time repeating verbally to the Minister an explanation issued at Berlin that the German note dealt only with points which were common to Allied replies to Berlin's former offer, ignoring Allied differences.

The correspondent's impression is that the British Government will act decidedly and swiftly to bring about Allied discussion with a view of agreement and may even go so far as to state pointedly that the German note appears to offer a basis for settlement.

Come Down to Business.
In this note the Germans have come down to business about payments and guaranties and this is received as a clear cause for optimism in London. It cannot be pretended that the German offer of an annuity of 500,000,000 gold marks from the State railways and the same amount from a tax on the whole of German business and 200,000,000 marks or more from tobacco, sugar and drink, comes near to meeting the British demands, let alone what the other Allies want. But nobody expected Germany to offer the maximum at the start and the phrase in the note "part of a definite settlement" is cited as showing that the Germans wish to make clear that they are not suggesting that they will pay no more.

The two reparation schemes that hold the field at present in the allied camp are the Belgian, a summary of which was printed in the Post-Dispatch, and the British. Comparison of these with the German note shows that the Belgian and British schemes both demand a total payment from Germany of 40,000,000,000 gold marks. Germany offers the equivalent of a total of 20,000,000,000 on the railway and business tax, with sugar, tobacco and drink taxes worth, according to the German statement of yield, a total of 4,000,000,000 to 16,000,000,000 depending on the increase in consumption from the present figure of one-quarter the prewar amount to normal.

It is thus clear that as regards the total there is no insuperable barrier between the German and the British and Belgian schemes sufficient to invalidate the German demand for a conference.

Belgian Attitude.
The Belgians, however, want money more quickly. They say nothing about a moratorium, but would raise 3,120,000,000 marks as early as possible, against 1,200,000,000 offered by Germany. On this point the British are closer to the German viewpoint. They have definitely accepted in advance a four-year moratorium as well as deciding to advocate a small stabilization loan to Germany. The British also are skeptical about the Belgians' proposal to get 1,000,000,000 yearly out of the German railways and probably will regard the German offer of half that as more reasonable.

The Belgian figures indicate a yearly yield of 1,330,000,000 gold marks from the tobacco, drink, sugar, salt matches, lighters and electric apparatus. The Germans offer 200,000,000, omitting to mention salt, lighters and electrical apparatus, but claiming that this may rise to 500,000,000 if consumption increases.

The British view these taxes with favor and before the German note was received it was suggested that 1,000,000,000 gold marks would not be regarded here as an excessive yield from this source.

A group of unwelcome tenants was evicted today from the residence at 4915 West Pine boulevard, which is owned by Sigmund Hassall, who learned from his agent that the house had not been rented, but that it had been borrowed the key to the house.

Hassall's attorney was advised that the "International Brotherhood of Fraternity" occupied the house. The eviction notice was directed against Dr. S. D. W. H. Alderson, Miss Alderson, W. H. Alderson, Miss Alderson, and Grover Cleveland Alderson, who were present with a constable and his assistants tried their small quantity of household furniture to the address of the reporters.

The house, which was formerly occupied by the German Consul, is the only dwelling left in the block being surrounded by existing embryo apartments.

NATIONAL BANK OF TELEGRAPHERS OPENS TOMORROW

$1,500,000 in Deposits Will Be Entered as Business Done on First Day, Officials Announce.

SECOND LABOR BANK WEST OF MISSISSIPPI

Institution at Broadway and Pine Has $500,000 in Capital Stock and Surplus of $100,000.

E. J. Manion, president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, and by virtue of this position, president of the Telegraphers National Bank of St. Louis, said today that, when the bank opens tomorrow in its renovated quarters in the building formerly occupied by the Federal Land Bank, at Broadway and Pine,
it will have, in addition to its $500,- 000 capital stock and $100,000 surplus, more than $1,500,000 in deposits.

This statement, corroborated by Otto J. Grossrau,
vice president and actively in charge of the new bank's affairs,
adds that of this amount, to be entered as business done on the first day, several hundred thousand dollars will be out of the bank's treasury,
the union, but that "virtually two-thirds of it represents deposits by members of the order, which has 75,000 members, chiefly in the United States and Canada.

"This is the second labor bank to be opened west of the Mississippi River," Manion said, "one having been opened recently in Minneapolis.
It is one of two banks owned by international union organizations, that at Cleveland, the first to be opened,
being operated by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. It started
Nov. 1, 1920, and now, from $1,000,- 000 capital stock, has resources of more than $22,000,000."

Officers Control Stock.
Manion said there are seven or eight other labor banks over the East, but that all of them, aside from the first at Cleveland and this one here, are owned by local unions, and are small banks, serving a restricted section.

The Telegraphers National Bank
had its inception in a resolution adopted by the telegraphers at their annual convention in Savannah, Ga., in May, 1921. It was provided that the officers of the union devise a plan, and that they act as officers of the proposed bank. They should buy 51 per cent of the stock for the union and sell 49 per cent to members, none being allowed to own more than 10 shares.

In January of this year, plans were ready. It took about 60 days for consideration of the proposed scheme, and early in March a campaign among the order's members-ship disposed of the 49 per cent to them, at $20 a share—$100 par value and $120 on each share for a surplus.

The Federal Land Bank Building was purchased from the Liberty Trust Co. on April 1, and redeemed to the remainder of a 99-year lease on the property obtained from the Gehner Realty and Investment Co. The lease has 90 years to run. The annual stipulation
is not made public, but the price of the building was $250,000.

The Telegraphers took charge
June 1, and the Federal Land Bank, which had been there a year and three months, is now doing business in temporary quarters in the old Planters Hotel, on the Fourth and Chestnut street corner. "A new building will be ready for them on Pine, just below Fourth street about Aug. 1, H. Paul Bestor, president, said.

Three Per Cent on Savings
"The bank will be run on a cooperative basis," Grossrau said. "Gosrau has been a banker in St. Louis for nearly 20 years, and will be the active head of the institution all present. He was assistant cashier at the South Side Bank before his consolidation with the Lafayette Bank, and at the time of his resignation to become vice president and general manager of the labor bank, was secretary and treasurer of the South Side Trust Co. "Earnings will be, insofar as possible, paid to de-positors.

"We will pay 3 per cent on savings accounts and 4 per cent on time deposits of one year or more. Then,
after the earnings have been divided,
some paid to stockholders as divi-

Stage Stars Sail to Wed in Rome

LIONEL BARRYMORE AND IRENE FENWICK.

JUST before they went aboard a steamer at New York last Tuesday, they announced they would be married in Rome June 20. Both were recently divorced. They have been in love since they co-starred a year ago in "The Claw". In the same company and playing an important part was Barry-more's first wife, Doris Rankin. She brought suit for divorce while the company was still on tour and recently won her decree.

ends, and the allotted amount paid into surplus ordered by law, the remaining funds will be paid to the de-positors as a bonus.
Grossrau said that deposits were coming in daily, and that yesterday he received in the mail checks from Florida, California, Minnesota and New York. This he suggested as being representative of the nation, in which the bank covers its membership in this country.

Leonard J. Ross, secretary and treasurer of the Telegraphers' order, is also by virtue of the resolution organizing the bank, first vice-president and cashier. However, both Ross and Manion will not, for the present, be actively in charge of the bank's affairs in other than a supervisory capacity. Gosrau explaining that their offices in the order require too much time to allow them to handle both executive positions.

Improvements begun June 1 include an expenditure of $50,000 for safe deposit vaults in the basement, and new office equipment. The name in stone at the top of the one-story
stone structure's entrance, "Liberty Bank of St. Louis," will be effaced.

Hyde Invited to Speak.
The opening tomorrow will be regular, the "christening" ceremonies not being until 1 p. m. Gov.
Hoye, Mayor Kiel and several civic and labor leaders have been asked to speak. Manion will preside, the meeting to be in the main room of the bank, just inside the entrance.

Aside from the officers mentioned,
there will be 15 employees, all members. Grossrau said, of the bank clerks' union, a local chapter of which they are now forming. A charter from the American Federation of Labor has been applied for.
Neither Manion nor Ross are on a salary. All but three of the 15 directors are members of the order.
The three are Grossrau, Albert von Hoffman of the Von Hoffman Press and James Campbell, attorney, counsel for the local sections of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

The object is to determine the engineering, chemical and economic factors involved in the storage of coal and the influence of those factors on the storage of coal by and various classes of consumers, Dean Cooley announced.

CROKER'S SON PAID FOR TRIP OF 8 WITNESSES

Richard Says His Agents Made Inquiries Concerning Mrs.
Bula Croker.

By the Associated Press.
DUBLIN, June 8.—Richard Croker
Jr., was cross-examined by Patrick Lynch, counsel for Mrs. Bula Croker, at today's session of his suit to break the will of his father, one time Tammany chieftain. Croker said he had never used detectives to spy upon his father, but admitted that he had employed one McCall to inquire into the transfer of the Crocker property at Palm Beach, Fla. McCall also went to Savannah and Molokai, and Jacksonville, Fla., to investigate information
the witness had received concerning Mrs. Bula Croker.

The witness testified that he had sent James Edward Carter, a member of the New York Democratic Club, to Northampton, Mass., last autumn to make inquiries of people who were reported to have known Mrs. Bula Croker there. His brother, Howard Croker, also visited Northampton and interviewed Mrs.
Clara Bingham and Mrs. R. E. Davies. The allegation has been made during the trial that Mrs. Croker was the legal wife of Guy R. Marone, through a ceremony performed at Northampton, where she married Croker, the testator.

Paid for Witnesses' Trip.
Croker testified that Carter had come to Dublin with Mrs. Bingham and Mrs. Davies and that he, the witness, had paid for the trip. He had made no agreement, however, except to pay their expenses and the actual loss they suffered by leaving Northampton. He testified that it was a legitimate expense to provide them with the necessary traveling articles, and said he was paying their Dublin hotel expenses.

Further testimony brought out that the witness was paying the expenses of eight witnesses, two of whom were from Monston, New Brunswick, and with whom he had been in communication before last October. When Carter left for Dublin with the witnesses the money for the purpose was given him by Croker but the latter could not state
the amount or produce receipts for the money. He testified that his first inquiries through McCall and Carter in regard to his father's wife were made between 1914 and 1916.

Advice to Father.
When his father told him of his marriage to Bula Edmondson, who was known as the "Indian Princess," he advised his father to look up the representations made respecting her age and family. He testified to receiving telephone messages from persons withholding their names to the effect that the details printed in regard to these points were false. It had been testified at Dublin that the witness was well known on Broadway before her marriage.

Croker said he had not raised the question of her alleged marriage with Marone in this suit; that allegations had been made by his sister, Mrs. Ethel C. White.

RUSSIAN PRESS OPTIMISTIC OVER ARRIVAL OF AMERICANS

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, June 8.—The presence here of Irving T. Bush of New York, Representative Carroll L.
Beedy of Maine and Representative Ross A. Collins of Mississippi, together with the expected arrival of Senator Brookhart of Iowa and other members of the American Congress, is greeted by the Russian press as an indication that American interest in Russia is growing.
Coming at a time when the soviet regime is endeavoring to make the French and British are critical, these American arrivals are treated optimistically, although in conversations the visitors all agreed that they were merely here in a private capacity.

The Russian newspapers publish a long dispatch from a Rosta agency correspondent, under a New York date line, saying that protests over the execution of the French and British are dying down and that the business interests of America are becoming increasingly aware of the necessity for a rapprochement with Russia.

VESUVIUS ERUPTION HARMLESS

ROME, June 8.—American tourists landing in Naples are enjoying a spectacle in the eruption of Vesuvius, which is theatrical, but harmless.
Prof. Malladra says the eruption is interesting scientifically because it arises from an overflow of lava inside the immediate crater over-breaks in several cones. The lava thus forms immense fiery bulwarks which are a fine spectacle by day and at night gigantic columns of smoke show brightly red against the sky. All the lava coming from the cones is incandescent.

SMALL ANSWERS SUIT FOR AN ACCOUNTING

Never Deprived State of Penny of Interest When Treasurer, Illinois Governor Says.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 8.—Denial was made by Gov. Len Small that he ever "deprived the State of one penny of any interest or profit resulting from his use of public funds," in an answer filed today by his attorneys in the suit for accounting brought by Attorney-General Brundage.

Direct denial is made by the Governor that there was at any time,
as alleged in the bill of complaint,
any combination between Small as State Treasurer and Edward C. Curtis and Vernon S. Curtis to use for their personal advantage any moneys
in the possession of the defendant
as State Treasurer. The Governor also avers that there never existed any unlawful or fraudulent plan between himself and the Curtis brothers to misuse State funds.

Plea as to Grant Park Bank.
The only material allegation of the bill admitted by the Governor's answer is that deposits were made in the Grant Park Bank, which the bill of complaint alleged was a fictitious bank. To this the Governor replied that the Grant Park Bank was in existence 25 years prior to 1917, when Small became State Treasurer for the second time, and they pursued toward this bank the same course hitherto toward every other bank in which State funds were placed, namely, that he required all banks carrying State funds to provide a high grade of commercial paper as collateral security. He points out that the security provided by the Grant Park Bank could have been sold upon the open market in Chicago and thus the deposits of State funds rendered entirely safe.

The Governor denies the allegation that books and accounts in the office of the State Treasurer during his term of office, 1917-19, were so kept as to conceal the fact that deposits were made in the Grant Park Bank. In this connection the methods of passing drafts in account mainly through the Fort Dearborn National Bank is fully set out. He averts that certificates of deposit were regularly issued by the Grant Park Bank and that recently messages had been received from that all were paid in full, and that they were adequately secured by collateral security.

LUXEMBURG GIRL WINS DANCE PRIZE WITH 147 HOUR RECORD

Miss Hilda Johnson Awarded $700 in Marathon Dance at Coliseum Men Still on Floor.
Promoters of the marathon dance
at the Coliseum announced today that Miss Hilda (Mickey) Johnson, 18, of Luxembourg, St. Louis County, was the winner of the $700 cash prize for continuous dancing. She was in continuous motion for 147 hours except for 15-minute rest periods every four hours, the management stated. She quit shortly before 1 a. m. today.

The former record is 122 hours made by Mrs. James Yarnall of Youngstown, O. "The public is not admitted to the contest between the hours of 1 and 5 a. m. because of an ordinance forbidding dance halls to remain open after 1 a. m."

PRESIDENT TO SPEAK IN COLISEUM NIGHT OF JUNE 21

Executive's Party to Reach St. Louis at 4 P. M.
That Day—Will Depart at 11:30 the Same Night.

President Harding, on his Western trip, will reach St. Louis at 4 p. m., June 21; participate in the laying of the cornerstone of the City Club's new building and will deliver a address at 8 p. m. in the Coliseum.
He will depart at 11:30 the same night.

This was announced today by the President's personal representative,
Walter Brown, who called upon Mayor Kiel, at City Hall to arrange necessary details for the visit. Following the conference the Mayor, accompanied by Brown, began seeking hotel accommodations for the presidential party.

Visit Will Be Non-Partisan.
The President's visit is to be wholly non-partisan, Brown said, the President having expressed the desire that he be given an opportunity to see and speak to as many St.
Louisans as is possible. Invitations to speak at various functions have been received by the President from at least 25 St. Louis organizations.

President Harding will be accompanied by Mrs. Harding, Secretary of Commerce Hoover, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and Secretary of the Interior Work.

DISAPPOINTED KIN OF MRS. TODD ON STAND IN WILL SUIT

thought her great aunt insane for the following alleged beliefs:
She was a Christian Scientist at one time.

She remarked once that Confucianism and Buddhism were grand old religions.

She made a Cook's tour of Europe.

She believed in the transmigration of souls from animals to people and people to animals.

In rebuttal, Hay, by a rigorous cross-examination brought out the facts that Mrs. Todd bought Liberty bonds during the war and also contributed to the Red Cross.

A great deal of testimony devolved around Mrs. Todd's cats.

"Did you ever hear of a cat named Adeline?" a witness would be asked.
He or she would reply, "I never heard of Adeline, but I recall Lady Boy and Girlie." The defense sought to show that Mrs. Todd's affection for dumb animals was not a fancy
by nature kind-hearted and loved animals from childhood.

Points Brought Out by Defense.
Through cross-examination the following statements were obtained which the defense will cite to show why.

Up to a few weeks before her death Mrs. Todd carried on correspondence with Judge Leo Ras-sation, her attorney.

Mrs. Todd supported a school in South China.

She named every near relative in her will and named them correctly.

Most of her later years she spent with servants part of the time and alone the rest. Her relatives visited her infrequently.

She possessed a stubborn will.
Her Daytonia hogue was a substantial one and she was surrounded by a high fence and was secluded by large grounds and shrubbery.

Points Made by Plaintiffs.
As evidence of insanity, the plaintiffs have brought out testimony designed to show that:

She dressed and behaved picturesquely before men servants nude or nearly nude.

She had wrinkles cut from her face by a beauty specialist in New York and her cheeks were padded with paraffin. Her eyebrows were tattooed.

She was careless about money and would leave it about her house, partially hidden under rugs,
in books and behind pictures.

She was rambling and disconnected in conversation and frequently changed her mind.

She loved cats and was interested in spiritualism.

FRUIT DEALER SHOT WHILE SEATED IN AUTO

Police Seek Man Victim Says Walked Up to Machine and Opened Fire.

Detectives investigating the shooting and wounding of Leo Orlando, 44 years old, of 4248 Page boulevard,
a fruit dealer, are seeking John Berte of 1241 North Eighth street.
Orlando was shot in the face and back at 7:45 o'clock last night while seated in his automobile in front of 1249 North Eighth street.

Orlando told the police that Berte and he had a disagreement several months ago, and that Berte had threatened him. Witnesses told the police that after the shooting Berte got into an automobile and drove away with three other men.

Berte made quite a bit of money and his wife got stuck up," said Orlando. "That made my wife mad, and I had a fight with Berte. I whipped him and he said he was going to get even with me. My wife and I drove to 1249 North Eighth street last night and while my wife was paying a premium on an insurance policy Berte walked up to my automobile and shot me."

Mrs. Berte was taken to the Carr Street Station. She told the police she did not know where her husband had gone, and that she knew of no reason why he should have shot Orlando.

SOUTHWEST'S CATTLE RANGES RAPIDLY BECOMING DEPLETED

Rodent Pests Reported as Causing Great Damage Despite Campaign of Eradication.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 8.—Cattle ranges in the Southwest are becoming depleted through overstocking, dry weather and the ravages of rodents, according to Charles Springer, one of the largest owners of land and cattle in New Mexico, who conferred yesterday with Secretary Wallace.
Prairie dogs and kangaroo rats have reached such numbers, he said, that they have become a considerable factor in putting the range out of commission.

The Biological Survey has been carrying on an active campaign against pests in the Southwest, in cooperation with the farmer and stockmen, and more than 100,000,000 acres have been treated in various states.

Rodent control work of the Government has demonstrated, officials said, that the pests can be eradicated.
In Colorado, about $47,000 was expended last year and approximately 2,000,000 acres were saved, resulting in a saving of not less than $500,000. It is estimated by Agricultural experts.

FIELD MANUSCRIPTS OFFERED IN ST. LOUIS

Poet's Son Here Preparing Way for Sale to Private Collectors Next Fall.

Eugene Field, son of the poet whose name he bears, and H. D.
Sickles, who is in charge of the elder Field's manuscripts for the estate, were in St. Louis Wednesday and yesterday preparing the way for the sale of some of the original manuscripts here. They will return in the autumn, to offer these to private collectors, and hope to arrange to have some placed in the archives of the Missouri Historical Society.

Field provided in his will that his manuscripts should be spread among as many individual owners as possible throughout the country. He did not want them to go into the hands of dealers or to be sold for exorbitant prices. Accordingly, low prices have been fixed on them and they are being offered in various cities. The proceeds will go to the estate and will be divided among the heirs, who are:

Mrs. Julia Fields of Chicago, the widow, and five surviving children.
Eugene (Penny) and Russell Francis (Roney), Chicago; Mrs. W. C.
Englar (Mary French or "Trotty"), Kenilworth, Ill.; Frederick Skiff (Daisy), both of Torshawk, Wis. The nicknames are those affectionately given by the poet-father.

Field's works are contained in 12 volumes, including two containing his Chicago newspaper column,
"Sharps and Flats." Nearly all the manuscripts are said to be in the possession of the estate, and include 500 or more pieces of prose and verse. There are some unpublished manuscripts, which the estate has not published, so that buyers may have the pleasure of making them public if they so desire. None was sold during the present visit here.

The family is planning to provide a collection of Fieldiana for a "Field corner" in the Field Museum, Chicago, which was named for Marshall Field, the merchant. St. Louis collectors are expected to be especially interested in the manuscripts since this was the city of the poet's birth and early career.

Sickles showed some of the manuscripts to a Post-Dispatch reporter.
They were written in ink, in a fine,
clear hand, virtually without corrections. Some have illuminated initials. One is the original of the famous, "Just Before Christmas I'm as Good as I Can Be."

UNION COMMITTEES IN SESSION ON TRIM METAL DISPUTE

Attitude to Be Decided on Decision of National Board Making Award to Metal Workers.

Committees from organizations interested directly in building construction here are meeting today to discuss the jurisdictional dispute between carpenters and sheet metal workers all over the country over which has the right to do metal trim work, and to decide what attitude to take on the recent action of the National Board of Jurisdictional Award, which virtually affirms a decision made in 1919, giving the work to the metal workers.

There are many sides to this jurisdictional controversy which is causing employers to fear the possibility of a widespread building strike, unless some amicable ground for settlement is found in the near future.

The organizations gathered for conversations on this subject today are the Building Trades Council, representing some 14,000 building tradesmen in St. Louis; the Master Builders' Association, the architects' group and material men. All are affiliated with the national board and have agreed previously to stand by its rulings.

The Building Trades Council has indicated it will stand by the board's decision. The carpenters are affiliated with the council, and this means disruption in that organization. Maurice J. Cassidy, secretary, has invited the bricklayers and plasters, who are not in the council, to attend the meeting today, hoping to present, apparently, a solid front to the carpenters if they continue to refuse to abide by the national board's decision.

UNION TREASURER BROUGHT BACK

Negro Says He Got Behind in Accounts. During Strike.

James W. Worthington, negro treasurer of Hod Carriers' Union No.
3, composed of negroes, who was arrested in Buffalo, N. Y., May 31 on an indictment charging him with embezzlement of $2219.19 of the union's funds, was brought back to St. Louis today.

He said he began getting behind in his accounts in 1921, when the hod carriers were on strike, by advancing sums to various members of the union. Some of the borrowers forgot to repay him, he said. He denied using any of the money in extraneous living and expressed the hope that the union would give him
time to make good the shortage.

Girl Hurt by Auto Truck.

Mary Elizabeth Brock, 7-year-old daughter of the late James E. Brock, who was secretary of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co., suffered severe bruises and probable internal injuries when struck by a delivery truck as she alighted from a street car and walked from behind it in front of the machine while on her way home from school in Kirkwood at noon yesterday. She was given emergency treatment and removed to St. Luke's hospital, where her condition is said not to be critical. She lives at 125
East Woodbine avenue, in Kirkwood.

'RUN OUT OF TOWN,' UNION ORGANIZER SAYS

Charles Inman, in Suit, Alleges He Was Kidnaped by Armed Men in Hardin County, Ill.

Difficulties encountered in attempting unionization of fluor spar mines of Hardin County, Illinois, and treatment received at the hands of persons opposed to organization of the miners, were related yesterday in Federal Court at East St. Louis by Charles Inman, an organizer for the American Federation of Labor, in his suit for $15,000 damages against former Sheriff W. H. Cox and 14 other Hardin County residents.

Inman, who lives in Herculaneum, Mo., testified he was forcibly ejected from Hardin County by the persons named in his suit. He testified that Oct. 3, 1921, he was warned to leave Elizabethtown, center of the trouble, in 15 minutes and before he could make arrangements to leave, was kidnaped, placed in a motor boat and four men, all armed, took him to Golconda. The trip was made on the Ohio River on a boat owned by James Patton Jr., now a prohibition enforcement agent in East St. Louis, but who lived in Elizabethtown at the time of the trouble. He is one of the defendants.

Feeling against organization of the miners was strong in the community, Inman testified, and attempts to organize resulted in considerable trouble. He said he was there to organize the miners, some of whom were striking for formation of a union. He testified shortly before he was forced to leave town he was arrested on a warrant charging him with false imprisonment and after being released on bond was "run out of town."

The contention of the defense is that Inman set up a camp a few miles from Elizabethtown and arrested all persons who passed along the public highways, this leading to his arrest. After his arrest, the defense alleges, he made efforts to leave town but no means of transportation other than the trip by boat to Golconda could be obtained and he went on this trip willingly.

SIMMONS ASSAILED FOR FORMING ORDER OF KNIGHTS KAMELIA

Arkansas Official Asks Colonel if He Would Continue Work Without Obtaining Money.

By the Associated Press.
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 8.—Declaring that William Joseph Simmons, emperor of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, in organizing the order of the Knights Kamekia, is arrogating to himself a right that is not invested in him, James A. Comer of Little Rock, Grand Dragon of the Klan in Arkansas, issues a statement in which he asks:
"Would the Colonel be interested in the formation of an order for women, known as Kamekia, if it were stripped of its monetary value accruing to him?"
Col. Simmons is bound by the same oath that all members are bound to foster the interests of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, the statement said, but since his election as emperor he worked against the best interests of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

Man Killed in Mine Fire.
By the Associated Press.
JOPLIN, Mo., June 8.—One man was killed and another seriously burned when fire destroyed a zinc concentration plant of the Urope Mines near Baxter Springs, Kan., yesterday. Thirty men who were in the mine at the time of the fire were rescued through an adjoining mine, and were uninjured.

CHANGES IN REFORMATORY SYSTEM URGED BY HOLLENBECK

Paper by Head of State Prison Board
Read at Welfare Society Meeting.

An intermediate institution between the State reformatory and the penitentiary, the changing of the reformatory to that of training or vocational school and the employment of a trained psychiatrist to examine constantly each inmate were among the recommendations by Arch T. Hollenbeck, president of the State Prison Board, in a paper which was read last night at the annual meeting of the Missouri Welfare League. Hollenbeck was unable to be present.

The paper stated that many prison abuses had been eliminated, but that there was room for much more improvement. Prisoners have better food and clothing than in former years and sanitary conditions in the factories and cell buildings have been improved.

The league elected the following directors: Miss Mary Alexander, Mrs. Charles Ammerman, John J. Burns, Dr. Jerome E. Cook, W. S. Ford, Judge J. Hugo Grimm, George H. Hall Jr., the Rev. Ivan Lee Holt, Dr. P. G. Hanford, Miss Laura Kinhead, the Rev. Rufus D. S. Putney, W. T. Ravenscroft, Mrs. Eugene T. Senseney and Miss Anne Thomson.

LEVIATHAN JUNKET SHOULD BE PROBED, SENATORS' ASSERT

Join Representatives in Privately Expressing Intention to Support Move for an Inquiry.

FLEET CORPORATION TO PAY BILL FOR TRIP

Lasker and Shipping Board Thus Can Block Attempts to Prevent Their 'Million-Dollar Joy Ride.'

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Among facts revealed yesterday in regard to the plan for a "million-dollar joy ride" on the Leviathan was:

That it is to be paid for by the Emergency Fleet Corporation, to whose millions Chairman Lasker, of the Shipping Board has access and which is under no obligation to make accounting to the Comptroller-General.

Chairman Hull of the Democratic National Committee said the disclosures as to the junket called for a congressional investigation.

Senators and Representatives expressed privately to the Post-Dispatch their belief that the matter should be probed and their intention to support a move for an inquiry.

Chairman Lasker refused to make public the names of those who will be recipients of the hospitality he is to furnish at public expense.

Declinations of invitations continued to pour in.

That the Treasury Department has no way of preventing Chairman Lasker from taking 600 chosen guests on the so-called trial trip of the liner Leviathan to Cuban waters was made clear yesterday, when it was learned that the entire expense of the junket will be paid out of the funds of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, formerly the Shipping Board's construction arm and now its operating branch. Comptroller-General J. R. McCarl has no legal power to hold up the bills.

While Chairman Lasker and the Shipping Board will run the junket, the cost will be charged to the Fleet Corporation which, like the War Finance Corporation, is not obliged to render an accounting to the Comptroller-General. Were the Shipping Board to pay the expense, an accounting would have to be made as in the case of army and navy expenditures, and the question whether the expenditure was legal might be raised. But the Fleet Corporation's funds are appropriated by Congress, and it operates on a pay-as-you-please basis.

The authority of Chairman Lasker to make such an expenditure of public funds has not been questioned by the Treasury Department, as the law is interpreted as giving the Shipping Board the necessary power. Chairman Lasker's list of personally chosen guests was badly depleted, Republicans as well as Democrats declining to be parties to a further extravagant use of funds of a board admitting an annual deficit of $50,000,000.

The final decision of many to decline was based on the fact that the Leviathan made a trial run from Newport News to Boston of 563 miles, which was 151 miles more than the Berengaria, formerly the Imperator, made after she was reconditioned in England and converted into an oil-burner, as has been the Leviathan. Were the Leviathan to be brought here after being painted in Boston and placed in the transatlantic service at once, she would have had 380 more miles of testing—the distance around Nantucket Light Ship—or far more than custom requires.

It was learned that many Congressmen were left off Chairman Lasker's invitation list, although when the trip was announced it was expected that each Senator and Representative would be invited or at least would be granted the right to nominate someone to go.

Representative Anthony J. Griffin was not invited, although he is a member of the subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee which has jurisdiction over Shipping Board matters. Asked if he would have accepted if he had been invited, he replied:

"I certainly would not have. I consider this trip a piece of foolishness. There is no excuse for it. A few hundred friends of Chairman Lasker are going to have a good time for a week. It is a waste of public money."

Griffin explained that his comment was not due to the fact that he had not received an invitation. Former Representative W. M. Chandler, a Republican, was not invited.

Chairman Lasker did not make public the list of those who will make the trip, although it had been stated that a list would be given one when all the replies to invitations were received. The list was set for replying ended Tuesday morning.

U. S. Mine Sweeper to Be Total Loss.

We Stop Falling Hair

Grow New Hair in 90 Days or Your Money Refunded

This New Way

Science discovers falling, lustreless hair due to simple infection (Sebum). Now quickly overcomes it. Hair actually grown on 91 heads in 100.

This is to offer you new hair—lustrous, beautiful, attractive—or money refunded under our 90-day treatment plan.

It offers, too, to stop falling hair. If we fail, the treatment costs you nothing. Your own druggist signs the guarantee. Hence we assume the risk.

Thousands of women have made this test. Results are amazing. The charm of wonderful hair is now available to any one who chooses to have it.

The Infected Sebum in Your Hair

Sebum is an oil. It forms at the follicles of the hair. Its natural function is to supply the hair with oil.

But frequently it becomes infected. It clogs on the scalp; clogs the follicles and plugs them. Germs by the millions breed in it, then feed upon the hair. Soon your hair begins falling. You note too how lifeless it appears. In a short time, all the natural lustre and beauty are gone.

But—and note this scientific fact—remove the Sebum and the hair reverts back to the softness and brilliancy it displayed when you were a school girl.

The Van Ess treatment accomplishes that result. We know you will doubt it. So we guarantee it. We urge you to give this new way a fair trial. It is folly not to test it; for, remember, you take no risk.

Go to any druggist or department store today. Ask for the Van Ess Liquid Scalp Massage on the 3-bottle treatment plan. Written guarantee accompanies it.

BOND EXPENDITURES OF $150,000 APPROVED

$115,000 for Bridge Over River Des Peres at Gravois Avenue, $35,000 for Fire Engine House.

The Citizens' Supervisory Committee on Bond Issue Expenditures yesterday approved ordinances appropriating $115,000 to construct a reinforced concrete bridge over the River Des Peres at Gravois Avenue and $35,000 for a new fire engine house for company 17, at Leonard and Easton avenues.

Alderman Eilers, Twenty-sixth ward, requested the committee to authorize the expenditure of $100,000 to pay a portion of the cost for the reconstruction of Easton Avenue, from Marcus to King's highway, out of the $2,500,000 in the bond issue for the improvement of major thoroughfares.

He stated the cost of the construction of Easton Avenue had been increased that sum by an error of the Board of Public Service in not properly advertising the letting for the work which was to have been constructed of split granite blocks, though the board in advertising the public hearing neglected to specify that it was one of the materials that the board would ask for bids upon. After the bids were taken Oct. 25, 1932, the contractor who got the job was notified by the bank where he sought a loan to carry on the contract, that the tax bills would be illegal, due to the error of the Board of Public Service, in not properly advertising the letting. Eilers contends it is no fault of the taxpayers, who will be compelled to pay the increased cost because of an increase in labor and material since the old letting.

The committee referred the request to the subcommittee on streets. Members of the committee indicated they thought that as Easton Avenue is classed as a major thoroughfare the appropriation can properly be made out of bond issue funds.

DEEP PORTION OF FOREST PARK LAGOON CLOSED TO CANOEISTS

Starting Platform to Be Removed to Shallow Water—Boathouse Also Likely to Be Changed.

The deep portion of the boating lake in Forest Park, where two drownings occurred within nine days, has been roped off and canoes and boats will be permitted only in the shallow lagoons, where the water does not exceed a depth of four feet. Park Commissioner Page announced today. That portion of the waters where the drownings occurred is seven feet deep in places. Page said, following a conference with the concessionaire at the lake, that it had been decided to remove the starting platform from the deep water, where it now is located, at the boathouse, to the shallow water of the lagoon, about 100 yards beyond, and that this most likely would expedite removal of the boathouse also.

As has been told, the Park Department plans to reduce the depth of the lake, when dirt from confining the River des Peres into a closed sewer through the park becomes available under the bond issue item for this improvement. Until then, Page said, boating will not be allowed in the deep water. Malcolm Skelton, 21 years old, of 5579 Clemens Avenue, was drowned in the deep water near the starting platform Wednesday afternoon, when his canoe upset, and John Loughran, 16, of 4512 Maffitt Avenue, was drowned there in a similar accident the night of May 25.

FIGHT ON WEEVIL SUCCEEDING

Rio Grande Valley Reports Cotton Pest Almost Eradicated.

HARLINGEN, Tex., June 8.—Cotton growers in the lower Rio Grande Valley are rejoicing at the almost entire absence of boll weevils. It was in that valley that the pest made its first appearance in the United States, crossing the river from Mexico about 20 years ago. It is explained that the weevil has been virtually eradicated by the exercise of precautionary measures by the farmers.

PLASTERERS WANT $14 A DAY

Peter Anderson, of the construction employers, said he had been notified today that the 250 plasterers in St. Louis decided last night to demand an increase to $1.75 an hour, or $14 for an eight-hour day. The present rate of $1.50 an hour is the highest ever paid this class of building tradesmen. Bricklayers and stonemasons are the only other building tradesmen getting the $1.50 scale here.

BOY BASEBALL PLAYER'S DEATH AN ACCIDENT

Teammates of Charles Orlamander Will Serve as Pallbearers at His Funeral Sunday.

A coroner's verdict of accident was returned today in the case of Charles Orlamander, 14 years old, son of Otto Orlamander, 1923 Temple avenue, who died at Barnes Hospital at 6 p. m. Wednesday, from a skull fracture, suffered an hour and a half earlier when he was struck on the back of the head by a pitched baseball in a game between Arlington School and Mt. Pleasant School, in Forest Park.

"It was a friendly game, the players on the opposing teams being on the best of terms," testified S. C. Brighton, a teacher at Arlington School. "It was one of a series of eliminations for championship in the Public School League. Orlamander was at bat in the fifth inning. Arthur Stauder, 18, of 3011 Lemay avenue, pitcher for the Mt. Pleasant, threw a high, fast ball. Orlamander turned to dodge the ball and was struck on the back of the head."

Richard von Dach of 4262 Wyoming street, who umpired the game from behind the pitcher's mound, gave similar testimony, and added that after Orlamander was taken to the hospital the game continued and the Arlington team won, 3 to 2.

Stauder, the pitcher, when informed that he could stand on his constitutional rights and decline to testify, said he had no statement to make, except that he deeply regretted the accident.

Members of the Arlington baseball team will serve as pallbearers at the funeral Sunday afternoon from a private chapel at 3821 Easton avenue. A floral piece was sent to the chapel today by Orlamander's teammates and other members of his gradutap class.

GIRL'S MARRIAGE TO KANSAS FOOTBALL STAR ANNULLED

Testifies She Was Tricked Into Ceremony and Did Not Know What She Was Doing.

ATCHISON, Kan.—The marriage of Miss Agnes J. Jeffries, Atchison school teacher, and Tris Spurgeon, former Kansas University football star, was annulled in an order issued in the Atchison County District Court last week by Judge W. A. Jackson.

The two were married in St. Joseph on Labor day, last September, shortly before the opening of the Atchison school term. On the witness stand in her own behalf Mrs. Spurgeon declared that Spurgeon had tricked her into the marriage, and had forced her to agree to the marriage contract when she did not understand what she was doing. In annulling the marriage contract Judge Jackson stated that he took that action on account of a misunderstanding of the two, and especially of Mrs. Spurgeon; also because Spurgeon apparently used force in bringing about the marriage, and, further, because the contracting parties had not lived together since the marriage.

Mrs. Spurgeon's father, of Kansas City, Kan., was at the hearing, and said on the witness stand that Spurgeon had told him that he, Spurgeon, did not think the marriage had been legal. Spurgeon was not at the hearing, nor was his attorney. Judge Jackson restored Mrs. Spurgeon's maiden name.

DRIVER WHOSE CAR KILLED GIRL, 13, IS EXONERATED

Joseph Held Testifies at Inquest That Victim Ran Directly in Front of Machine.

A coroner's verdict of accident was returned today in the case of Patricia Jennings, 13 years old, daughter of Curtis P. Jennings, of 638 Waterman avenue, who died at Children's Hospital at 7:45 p. m. Monday from injuries suffered at 4:20 p. m., the same day, when she was struck in Forest Park by an automobile driven by Joseph G. Weld, 24, an insurance broker, of the St. Regis Apartments, 454 Lindell boulevard.

Weld testified he was driving along Weld drive at about 15 miles an hour and that the girl darted from between two automobiles parked near the lion house and stepped directly in front of his car. He was unable to stop in time to prevent hitting her, he said. Patricia's aunt, Mrs. Wallace J. Kietzker of 6978 Clayton avenue, testified she crossed the drive in front of Weld's car to get into her own automobile and that Patricia was following her. Patricia's father, who is president of the Berthold-Jennings Lumber Co., said after the accident that he was convinced Weld was without blame.

NOT ALWAYS SO HUMOROUS

Reply That Republicans Elect President Falls to Win Citizenship.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Justice Russell Benedict, in special term at Queens, was almost inclined to admit to citizenship one Italian who failed on most of the questions concerning our Government, but brightened perceptibly when asked who elects the President of the United States.

"The Republican party," he replied. Justice Benedict, although a good Republican, told the man he would have to study some more.

'DRY'S' CONFIDENT WISCONSIN SENATE WILL KILL REPEAL BILL

Upper House Admittedly Friendly Toward Prohibition, as Shown by Past Votes.

By the Associated Press.
MADISON, Wis., June 8.—"Dry" leaders in the State Senate today were confident of defeating the Tucker bill, repealing the Severson prohibition enforcement act, should the bill come before the upper body. The Assembly yesterday endorsed the bill by a vote of 48 to 43 and wet adherents predicted that their forces would remain intact when the measure comes up for final passage in that body.

The Senate is admittedly dry as has been shown in past votes during this session. Headquarters here of the Wisconsin division of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment recently admitted that there was little chance of passing a repeal measure in the Upper House.

DENVER, Colo., June 8.—Modification of the Volstead act and the return of light wines and beer, were favored in a resolution adopted at the closing session last night of the annual convention of the Colorado State Federation of Labor, according to President Earl Hoage of Denver, who returned today from La Junta, where the convention was held.

RUSSIAN REPLY SAID TO REJECT PRINCIPAL BRITISH DEMANDS

Document Not Yet Delivered Reported to Deal Almost Exclusively With the Propaganda Question.

Special by Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
LONDON, June 8.—Although the soviet reply to the last British note has been received here, Trade Commissioner Krassin failed to present it to Foreign Minister Curzon yesterday.

The Post-Dispatch is informed authoritatively that it deals almost exclusively with the propaganda question refusing flatly the principal British demands for the transfer of two soviet Ministers in Afghanistan and Persia, who, Marquis Curzon says, violated the propaganda clause of the trade agreement. Foreign Minister Tchitcherine clearly implies, further, that the activities of British representatives in Asiatic states bordering those of the soviet are open to objections similar to Marquis Curzon's and again suggests a Russian-British conference.

BODY OF MAN, 70, TAKEN FROM MISSISSIPPI RIVER

Entry in Memorandum Book Indicates That His Name Was Gottlieb Krueger.

The body of a man, apparently about 70 years old, was taken from the Mississippi river at Elmore street yesterday afternoon.

In a memorandum book on the body was a notation: "I am Gottlieb Krueger of 3203 Salena street."

That address is the residence of Mrs. Anna Giese, 75, whom the police found ill in bed. She said that a man whose name was Krueger roomed at her home for three weeks prior to May 31, but left on that date and she had not heard from him since. He told her only that he came from the country. There were two cents and some keys in the clothes on the body.

WOMAN POSTMASTER 'CURIOUS'

Brought Into Court for Tampering With Letters.

By the Associated Press.
INDIANAPOLIS, June 8.—A woman's curiosity was responsible for the appearance in Federal Court here yesterday of Mrs. Mary Deering, Assistant Postmaster at Valparaiso, Ind., according to Homer Elliott, United States District Attorney.

The charge of tampering with letters in the Valparaiso Postoffice resulted only from Mrs. Deering's curiosity as to the contents of the missives, for nothing was missing from the envelopes, the District Attorney said.

ALLIES TO RESUME CONTROL OF GERMAN DISARMAMENT

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, June 8.—The Allied council of Ambassadors has decided that the commission of inter-allied control to supervise the disarmament of Germany, which abandoned its work several months ago, shall be resumed.

The German charge d'affaires in Paris was handed an official note this morning informing his Government "categorically and solemnly" that the inter-allied military control must again be enforced and that the Reich must take such measures as are necessary to facilitate the commission's work and prevent obstruction tactics and annoyances of the allied delegates.

New Liquid Puts 7-Day Curl In Straight Hair

Takes Only 15 Minutes—No Fuss—No Bother

WOMEN everywhere are talking about Domino Curlette—the wonderful new liquid which in 15 minutes makes straight hair gloriously curly and wavy, and keeps it so for a week or more.

It's almost miraculous, the way it works. You just apply a few drops to the hair. Then use your favorite irons to shape and place the curls the way you like best. Or if you wish and have the time to spare you can use ordinary kid or silk curlers. In either case you will be just delighted with the beautiful wavy hair you will have acquired. Domino Curlette costs only a small amount for a bottle lasting a long time. Keep your hair full of life and fluff, as well as beautifully wavy. Get Domino Curlette today. Sold at all drug and department stores, including—Wolff, Wilson; Judge & Dolph; Johnson Bros.; Enderle Stores; Stix, Baer & Fuller; and Nugents Department Stores.

CLARK LOSES APPEAL IN MISSOURI U. LIBEL SUIT

Denial of $50,000 Damages to Dismissed Teacher Agreed Law School Faculty Affirmed.

By the Associated Press. JEFFERSON CITY, June 8.—The Missouri Supreme Court today affirmed the judgment of the Circuit Court of Saline County denying $50,000 damages to George L. Clark, former professor of law at the University of Missouri, for alleged libel in a statement issued by the faculty of the law school of the University.

Clark was notified Dec. 21, 1920, by the curators of the university that his services would no longer be needed, although his salary would not cease until Sept. 1, 1921. A letter written by him to H. V. Tyler, Cambridge, Mass., secretary of the American Association of University Professors, related his version of the causes leading to his dismissal.

In the letter Clark said the chief reason for his dismissal was "active and persistent disloyalty to the president of the university," who was A. Rose Hill.

Later J. P. McBaine and other members of the faculty issued a statement in which they said that Clark "was dismissed on good and sufficient grounds and had ceased to be a useful member of the faculty of the university."

Clark contended that the board of curators made no charges against his character or competency as a teacher of law, and that in commenting on his dismissal the members of the faculty of the law school issued "libelous statements."

He sued the faculty for $25,000 actual and $25,000 punitive damages.

40 TO 55 PCT. REDUCTION IN AUTO THEFT INSURANCE RATES

Change Is Result of Large Percentage of Recoveries After Thefts in Last Three Years.

The rates for theft insurance in St. Louis on all makes of automobiles were reduced 40 to 55 per cent June 1 on all new policies. The reduction is not retroactive and no refund on policies in force will be made.

The reduction in rates was made possible by the large percentage of stolen cars recovered in the last three years by detectives of the insurance companies, aided by St. Louis police, it was stated by the Missouri Inspection Bureau, which announced the new rates that were fixed at a recent conference in Chicago.

The fire and theft rate prior to June 1 on Ford cars of all types, which was $6.37 per $100 valuation, now is $3.10, and it has been reduced on Chevrolet from $3.16 to $1.53. The Nash is an example of how the new rates affect higher priced cars. This rate was cut from $2.25 to $1.60.

The Kansas City theft rate on automobiles was reduced on Ford cars from $10 per $100 valuation to $6.37. In the rural districts the rates were increased June 1 about 40 per cent, due to the small volume of insurance, it was stated, and fewer recoveries of stolen cars.

The automobile fire insurance rates, which are generally included in the theft policies, and which average 40 cents to $1 per $100 valuation, according to type of car, were not changed.

$9409 STATE INHERITANCE TAX ON C. M. SHANNON ESTATE

Appraiser Estimates Attorneys' Fees at $8000 and Estate Taxable in Missouri at $113,410.

A State inheritance tax of $9409.20 has been assessed against the estate of Charles M. Shannon, sales manager for Smith & Davis Manufacturing Co., who died Sept. 20, Public Administration Hampe was notified today.

The appraiser values the estate, subject to taxation in Missouri, at $113,410. The inventory of the estate filed Oct. 24, values Shannon's holdings at $124,777. The appraiser estimates that fees of attorneys representing the estate will be $3000; fees of the Public Administrator, $4755; Federal inheritance tax, $920 and court costs, $125. Shannon's only known relative is a brother, George D. Shannon, a lawyer, at Terre Haute. Shannon lived at the Missouri Athletic Association.

10 Saved in Wreck in Typhoon

By the Associated Press. MANILA, June 8.—One vessel has been wrecked and two others stranding around the Philippines for three days, according to advices received here today. A sailing ship was wrecked off the Misaki coast. Ten members of her crew were picked up and are being sent to Manila. The Japanese schooner, Fumizuki Maru was beached in the storm at Currimao, Island of Luzon, and the schooner Ajax ran on a reef off the Leyte coast.

Caterpillars Plague Austria

Correspondence of the Associated Press. VIENNA, May 18.—A black caterpillar with a yellow stripe is invading the fields of Styria and Tyrol, in Upper Austria. Swarms of the grub are eating the country bare.

ADVERTISINGMENT

To Keep Face Youthful, Fresh and Spotless

More important than the cosmetic care of the complexion is its physical care. To keep the face clean, fresh, youthful, there's nothing better than ordinary mercuric wash. It actually absorbs the soiled or faded, worn-out skin particles. By all means, acquire the mercuric wash habit. It's so easy to get an ounce of the wax at the drugstore, and at night like cold cream and wash it off next morning. There's no danger of discoloring the old skin coming off so gradually no one suspects you're using it. What in a week or two the alluringly youthful radiance under skin is fully in view. It must be apparent that this process means complete removal of cutaneous blemishes like freckles, pimples and blotches.

MEDAL AWARDED
Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 8.—The South-California Edison Co. of Los Angeles last night was awarded the
A. Coffin Foundation's gold medal for signal achievement in the development of electric light and power during 1933. The award was made at a meeting of the public policies committee of the National Electric Light Association.

It was the first conferred by the Foundation, and was given to the California Edison Co. for its inauguration of electric transmission at 220-000 volts, over a distance of 240
miles, the highest commercial voltage in the world.
The Coffin Foundation was established last December by the General Electric Co. in honor of Charles A. Coffin, one of the founders of the company. It has an endowment of $400,000, the income of which is used annually for various awards.

2800 TYPES OF SAND TESTED TO FIND BEST FOR CONCRETE

Specimens From Every State and Foreign Countries Examined in Chicago Laboratory.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Row after row of little glass bottles, filled with sand and carefully filed away in glass-covered cabinets is a part of the technical "library" at the Structural Materials Research Laboratory at Lewis Institute in Chicago. It is probably the only collection of its kind in existence, and the information contained on the labels of the bottles gives an interesting insight into the part that science is playing in modern industrial undertakings.

This "sand library" was started 10 years ago, and specimens have been added from time to time until there are more than 2800 different bottles of sand in the collection. The specimens come from every state in the Union and from Canada, Cuba, Mexico and other foreign countries.
Each sample has been carefully tested, and the results of the test are kept in the files. They include the source of the specimen, the grading, slit content and the results of the colorimetric test for organic impurities. In most instances mortar and concrete tests also have been made.
The reasons for the tests were to ascertain the suitability of the various sands for concrete and mortar work.

The experiments with the various sands were undertaken at the laboratory as a part of the work of ascertaining methods that will assist the concrete user in obtaining the best results in the use of the material.

ROSE-COVERED LITTLE ISLAND SUBJECT OF LAUSANNE DISPUTE

Turkey and Roumania Both Claim Ownership of Ada Kaleh, In Danube.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.
BUCHAREST, May 17.—On the agenda of the Lausanne conference is an item which has baffled the world's statesmen who are trying to re-establish peace in the Near East. It is the question of the "Kadi of Ada Kaleh. At first nobody knew what the Kadi of Ada Kaleh was the name of a man, a geographical term, a state of mind, a mystic Turkish phrase, or a species of banana. Inquiry by the peace delegates, however, showed that Ada Kaleh is a delightful little island in the Danube near the "Iron Gates, with only a few thousand Mohammedans, inhabitants who grow roses and extract the essence from the leaves. The minaret of the only mosque on the island is a well-known landmark on the Danube as boats pass through the Iron Gates.

Ismet Pasha claims Ada Kaleh for Turkey, while Roumania insists it is here by reason of the Trianon treaty.
Before the treaty Ada Kaleh was in Hungarian possession, although the Budapest government always recognized the nominal sovereignty of the Sultan over the isle.
Mustapha Kemal dispatched a Kadi, or judge, to Ada Kaleh, and the Roumanian government, suspecting nothing and regarding him as only a harmless Turkish visitor, granted a visa to Kemal's emissary.
Now Ismet Pasha pretends that the granting of the visa is equivalent to the recognition of Turkey's rights to the island.

LESCHEN ESTATE PAYS CITY $15,000 ON DEFAULTED BOND

Rope Manufacturer Had Indemnified City Against Loss in Experimenting With Garbage Plant.

The City of St. Louis today received a check for $17,142 from trustees of the estate of Henry J. Leschen, rope manufacturer, who died about a year ago and who was security on a defaulted bond to indemnify the city against loss in experimenting with a plant to dispose of garbage.

In 1917 Dr. J. M. Hirsch, a chemist, came to St. Louis and proposed to solve the city's garbage problem if the city would invest $15,000 in a plant, which subsequently was agreed the plant being built at the foot of Dickson street. Hirsch was required to give bond to indemnify the city against loss in the event the plant was a failure, and Leschen signed the bond. The plant was a failure.
The city filed suit to collect the bond, and the trustees of Leschen's estate yesterday mailed the check, which includes interest on the money
due under the bond.

Deny Preacher Made Alleged Re- marks.

By the Associated Press.
NORFOLK, Va., June 8.—Relatives who accompanied the body of the Rev. E. L. Pierce here yesterday for burial denied that the slain preacher had made any remark in disapproval of the conduct of the wives of those charged with the shooting. R. O. Garrett and L. C.
Garrett, officials of Cumberland County, are charged with having killed Dr. Pierce in front of his home at Cumberland Courthouse

From St. Louis 9:01 P. M. Daily

You can visit Colorado on the same ticket, without extra rail cost; and include Yellowstone at slight additional rail charge, via the Burlington.

With rates uniform on all lines, the deciding factor in one's travel preferences becomes service. Millions choose the Burlington, because there is no railroad more reliable nor any with finer trains. And its service—thoughtful of your comfort; invitingly hospitable; and, in fine, of that character which you would naturally expect from a railroad of the first division—is at your command throughout the entire West. Before completing your plans, investigate—then judge for yourself.

Any authorized routing may be included in Burlington service.

FIVE CASES AGAINST CHAUFFEURS DROPPED

Alibis and Absence of Witnesses Win Dismissals for Three Drivers.

Five cases charging chauffeurs with malicious destruction of property in connection with recent skirmishes between union and nonunion taxicab drivers were dismissed in the Court of Criminal Correction today for the following reasons, respectively: A "home" alibi, an alibi that the defendant was in jail, absence of a prosecuting witness and uncertainty of two other prosecuting witnesses.

All the prosecuting witnesses were union chauffeurs of Brown taxicabs. The defendant in the first three cases was Robert C. Risner of 2498 South Broadway, who drives a service car and formerly drove a Yellow cab, for a firm employing nonunion chauffeurs.

Edward Bell of 5500 Vernon avenue, Brown driver, testified Risner threw a brick and an iron pipe through windows of his cab the night of either April 2 or 3. A policeman testified that he arrested Risner the morning of April 3 and that Risner was then held for several days at the Magnolia Avenue Police Station during a police investigation. Risner, his wife, parents-in-law and sister-in-law testified that he was home the night of April 2. Judge Calvin Miller discharged the case, saying he believed, but was not judicially certain that Risner was guilty, and that the alibi should be considered.

Gus Metzger, Brown driver, testified Risner threw bricks through his cab windows the night of April 3. Risner testified he was in jail then. The Judge dismissed the case. The State dismissed the third case against Risner because the Brown chauffeur was in Chicago. The Judge told Risner that Brown chauffeurs ought to carry shotguns, and "let the daylight through a few of you fellows."

Risner's brother, Julius, a service car driver, of 3225 Rolla avenue, was defendant in another case, in which Edward Bolk of 1416A North Grand boulevard, Brown man, testified that the defendant threw bricks into his cab. "Tuesday," April 1. It was shown April 1 was Sunday and the case was dismissed.

WHITE HOUSE CALLING RECORD MADE DURING SHRINE COUNCIL

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 8.—Nearly 20,000 Shrine delegates and members of their families visited the White House yesterday, the largest number that ever called at the mansion in a single day during its history of more than 100 years.

White House attaches estimate that fully 50,000 persons have passed through the mansion since Monday when Mr. and Mrs. Harding ordered the doors thrown open and the usual restrictions as to admission by card only removed.

The Shriners imperial council program was brought to a close with a pageant and dancing on Pennsylvania avenue last night, but the pageant was repeated today for the benefit of Washington school children.

Before the last flap in the pageant of historic scenes last night had passed the President and Mrs. Harding in their stand in front of the White House, thousands of spectators had swarmed into the street in the rear of the procession. The sudden swarming of the crowd, estimated at more than 150,000 persons, somewhat disarranged plans for spreading the two tons of corn meal thrown on the street in preparation for the "Dance of the States." The dance got under way, however, and continued for more than an hour on a stretch of eight or 10 blocks.

Prohibition Commissioner Haynes issued a statement today declaring that during the Shriners' convention the normal number of arrests for drunkenness were cut in half. He said the fact offered "unmistakable evidence that progress has been made in constructive enforcement of the eighteenth amendment."

"The orderliness of the assembled hosts was of everlasting credit to this great fraternal organization," the statement continued.

HUMBOLDT BUILDING SITE SOLD

The Martha Realty Co., of which Robert Abeles is president, yesterday purchased the site of the Humboldt Building, southwest corner of Grand and Washington boulevards, from the David Ranken Jr. School of Mechanical Trades. The lot has a frontage of 100 feet on Grand and 200 feet on Washington.

The Martha Realty Co. previously owned the Humboldt Building and held the ground under a 99-year lease. The property purchased yesterday also includes buildings on Washington boulevard, occupied by Lucks-Orwig company and the Society of Applied Arts. Abeles would not disclose the consideration.

HOMES SOUGHT FOR 4 BABIES

There is a very young baby at the St. Louis Children's Aid Society who has lost its mother and would like to stay a while with some mother who has lost her baby or some other woman who has no baby of her own. And there are three others, almost as young, whose mothers are sick and cannot care for them now, and they want to be cared for temporarily in healthful surroundings.

They are not candidates for adoption, but the aid society will pay for their care and will even increase the usual compensation because they are such tiny babies and will require unusual care.

The Shame of America.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
It is gratifying indeed to see an influential newspaper like the Post-Dispatch lend its support to the movement for giving back their freedom to men who dared to speak their minds when they differed with their fellow citizens during the war. Whether they were misled or not, history will determine. Perhaps others not now in prison would prefer prison rather than helping what now appears such a futile sacrifice of blood and treasure. But it is certain that those who differed honestly were not spies. They were not enemies of their country. Admitting that in time of war one runs chances in speaking his mind, it does appear that the war is over, for a while at least.

As an American who has been abroad practically since the war ceased, with the exception of one year, I constantly had to blush when I was reminded that mine is the only country where men still languish in prison for expressing an opinion during the war. Furthermore, that these men are treated like ordinary felons instead of political prisoners. Even in darkest Russia, during the most dismal days of the Romanoffs, political prisoners enjoyed special privileges and were not herded with the felons.

In Rumania, for instance, not only was there general amnesty for those who did not agree with the Government's war policy, but even communists who took part in a bomb-throwing plot which resulted in the death of several Senators were recipients of amnesty. And at the hands of a King! Surely, we who have made the world safe for democracy could learn something from a country backward enough to have a King.

I found in my travels Poland, Rumania, Free State of Danzig, Austria, Hungary, Germany, France and England, that one had to constantly blush for one's country because of these men behind the bars who were kept in prison when there is no longer any reason for it.

OSCAR LEONARD.

An Appreciation.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

It gives me more than usual pleasure to express our approval of the anniversary article by Charles G. Rose, your Washington correspondent, appearing in the Post-Dispatch. Such a fair and painstaking statement of the case for the release of all political prisoners is bound to have a considerable effect on public opinion, and we trust it will reach even the offices, and perhaps also the hearts, of those who, because of laziness and fear, are keeping the poets and idealists behind the bars.

On amnesty, you have done something worthy of the best American traditions. We congratulate you.

HARRY F. WARD.

Chairman American Civil Liberties Union.

As Representative Nettie Feels.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

LOOKING at the State prohibition law and its effect upon the people from a humanitarian point of view, let us remember that we are simply human beings, with interests in common, enjoying the same sunshine, the same rain and in the end reposing in the same sepulchre of endless sleep. Compared with the cycle of time, life is but a fleeting day. Why then restrict the liberties of the people? Why have all our good people abstained from the harmless pleasures this fleeting day will give them? Is it not bad enough that life gives more than our just portion of toil, sorrow and worries? Is it not bad enough that the majority toil wearily in the sun and storm that a few favorites might live in idleness? Is it not bad enough that many live in hute and shame and tents that the few might live in palaces? Is it not bad enough that many clothe themselves with rags that a few might robe themselves in purple and gold? Is it not bad enough that many creep and crouch that a few might tread on their necks with feet of iron?

And yet with all these tragedies of life heaped upon the multitude, still the few are not satisfied. Is it their ostensible purpose to make the masses cringe below the lash of the whip of their fanatical ideas? I wonder is this minority really so cruel that they delight in the tortures of others, or are they so obsessed by their fanatical ideas and hallucinations that they believe through force and force alone the multitude will accept their ideas of what is right and what is wrong? I ask them whether they are Christians? Whether it is a Christian doctrine to send a human being to penitentiary? I ask them if sending an honest-to-goodness, home-loving, hard-working man to prison for violating our State dry law is the sum total of their idea of Christianity? If such is their idea, then I prefer being anything but a Christian. I say this because the W. C. T. U. was the organization that helped put over this law at the last Legislature.

HARRY NETTLE.

GERMANY'S LATEST OFFER.

Germany's latest reparations offer is, as the London Times observes, "a great advance," both in tone and substance, over her offer of May 2. The improvement in tone permeates the entire memorandum and appears distinctively in Germany's explicit acknowledgment of her obligation to make reparation and what seems to be a sincere desire to fulfill that obligation.

As regards substantial improvement the note itemizes impressive guarantees for carrying out her engagements. The omission of such guarantees in the note of May 2 was generally regarded as a fatal objection, notably so by France.

Opinion in French Government circles, it is said, is still adverse. It perceives "no appreciable advance over the previous offers," finds in it no basis for discussion and reiterates that passive resistance in the Ruhr must be abandoned before negotiations can be begun. Belgium also finds the terms unacceptable.

It is difficult to see, however, just how Germany could have included the Ruhr in her offer. Necessity and tact seemingly compelled her to leave this question for adjustment to the parties which must whip the proffer into acceptable shape. The Ruhr occupation, manifestly, must be adjusted in any settlement arrived at, and the problem of that adjustment cannot be solved in a preliminary memorandum; it must be solved in the conferences to which the note is a preface.

The most reassuring feature of the situation so far developed is the attitude of England as expressed by Premier Baldwin in the Commons. To a cynical question as to "what we are doing," the Premier replied: "I think the honorable member will soon see." It was easy, of course, to construe the somewhat cryptic utterance too rosy, but the hopeful tenor of the words is unmistakable.

The suggestion of Secretary of State Hughes in his now famous New Haven speech that the question of reparations be turned over to a commission of impartial experts free of political entanglements is stressed by the German Foreign Minister, Von Rosenberg, and embodied in the note itself in the assertion of Germany's willingness to accept the findings of any impartial international body as to the amount and method of payment. Significant, too, is the Foreign Minister's unequivocal declaration that this latest offer is the last, that if flatly rejected it leaves Germany without further initiative and plunges her and Europe towards chaos. The significance of this is accentuated by England's partial agreement with that conclusion.

In sum, Germany has made a genuine bid for negotiations on the reparations question which, seemingly, must be received in that spirit, as a matter of prudence and self-preservation.

AN ELEPHANT'S RIGHTS.

We do not know why an elephant, with the whole country to choose from, should select Pulaski, Ia., as a permanent residence, but all our sympathies are with its determination to pick out a spot and settle down. A circus elephant's life is not a happy one. Its surroundings are neither quiet nor restful, and the company is none of the best. Between being bundled unceremoniously from one town to another, paraded over streets in evil repair and fed peanuts by utter strangers, an elephant has little time for rest and none for reflection.

Whether there was something particularly soothing about Pulaski, or whether it was simply a question of being resolved to go no farther, has not been disclosed, but this elephant parked in Pulaski, and in Pulaski it remained. A trainer who tried to move it with a tractor got a broken jaw for his persistence, and the elephant picked up the tractor and slammed it on the ground so hard that two of the cylinders flew out.

Even an elephant can have some rights if it has sufficient might.

A MILLION-DOLLAR JUNKET.

The Leviathan's junket, with which Mr. Lasker is closing his career as chairman of the Shipping Board, will be an expensive climax. Estimates of the cost run from $200,000 to a million. The taxpayer will pay the bill.

As for the necessity of a trial trip, which is the excuse given for the junket, men qualified to speak say the Leviathan has already had an adequate trial run. The poor excuse, therefore, may be dismissed and the affair assessed at its exact worth, namely, a lavish entertainment, with Mr. Lasker as host to his personal friends, with the unconsulted public providing the money.

It is a brazen exhibition of egotism and vanity. Were any public service rendered by this voyage, if the guests had any special claim upon the public's hospitality, the expenditure would not be criticized. But all that can be said for it is that Mr. Lasker is determined to make his exit as a bureaucrat in a blaze of glory, in which imposition of good-natured Mr. Harding unwisely acquiesces. If Mr. Lasker must play Lord Bountiful he should do it on his own money, not on the public's.

CITY EXPANSION STILL LIVES.

The hope of extension of the St. Louis city limits does not die with the adverse vote given the proposition in the constitutional convention to return the city to the county. The organized forces for city expansion in St. Louis, in fact, are not relying on the convention. They have not, from the beginning, hoped for a great deal from a convention susceptible to the same influences which govern the Legislature and which for so many years have blocked the proposition of submitting expansion or annexation to the electorate of the communities affected.

There was no reason, however, for the adverse vote of five of the St. Louis delegation and the absence of other members when the subject most vital to the city was up for consideration. Here was the most plausible opportunity ever presented to free St. Louis of its fetters and at the same time serve the wishes of what is now known to be the overwhelming sentiment of the county itself. N. P. Zimmer was the only St. Louis delegate present who voted for the proposal.

It is the plan of Hugh K. Wagner, president of the Million Population Club and of the Greater St. Louis Conference, which includes a great many civic organizations and individuals, to circulate the necessary initiative petitions and to have put on the ballot for the general election of 1924 a constitutional amendment for reciprocal amalgamation of city and county, whereby the entire county comes into the city and, at the same time, the city goes into the county. Duplication of city and county government would be avoided in this way and the desires of the greatest number of residents served.

Under this plan the fate of city expansion will not hang on the success of the new Constitution. If the convention does not propose to allot to the city and county what belongs to them it will lose the opportunity of leadership and the credit of an historic achievement.

A LESSON IN RELIGIOUS TOLERANCE.

Commenting upon the effects of the creation of the Irish Free State and the present conditions in Ireland, Mark Sullivan, in the New York Tribune, says that, whereas it had always been thought that giving Ireland independence would mean the revival of religious persecution, nothing of the kind has happened. There was a momentary outburst of sectarian passion in Belfast, where the Protestant workers in the shipyards drove out the Catholics. "But Protestant Judges dealt so severely with Protestant ruffians, that the Catholics were reassured. In the same way the Protestants in the North were reassured by the complete absence of religious intolerance in the Catholic South."

There is less religious intolerance in the whole of Ireland today, says Mr. Sullivan, than in those parts of the United States where the Ku Klux Klan is strong. For example, in Oregon legislation has been enacted which actually prevents Catholics from having their own schools, under any circumstances.

Yet this is "the land of the free." But no land can be free where religious intolerance rules. If the Irish people, who have suffered so much from religious quarrels, have learned tolerance, what of Americans, in whose past history religious intolerance left a black chapter? Are we again to suffer from this evil? Or shall we show the world that we can do as well as the Irish people are doing in letting each man worship as his conscience dictates?

The Governor of Oklahoma has that State's high institutions of learning up in the air.

SOCRATES AND HIS PUPILS.

SOCRATES: I suppose you young men attended the courthouse debate?
Glaucou: Yes.
Socrates: Did you decide where the courthouse ought to be located?
Glaucou: I don't think we thought of that particularly, Socrates.
Socrates: You were too much taken up with the nature of the controversy.
Glaucou: I think so.
Socrates: It struck you as odd that a city which is putting on metropolitan airs should revert to such a small-town fight as this.

Thrasymachus: It reminded me of a cannery-factory fight between a couple of hick towns.
Socrates: Certainly. We electrify the country by voting $87,000,000 for improvements, and then revert to one of those primitive feuds characterizing places in which everybody goes out to help the Ringling Brothers put up their tents.

Polemarchus: How do you account for it?
Socrates: I am afraid it means we are at heart that small town we always were.
Glaucou: Alas, yes!
Socrates: The objection to this sort of thing, of course, is that a courthouse doesn't make a metropolis no matter where you put it.

Thrasymachus: Certainly not.
Socrates: But if you can't put it where it ought to be you can't have a metropolis, either.
Thrasymachus: Exactly.

Socrates: It amused me during the debate that no one charged the courthouse with having blighted the district in which it occurs, even though it is to me as plain as anything could be. The courthouse is essentially a place of rest. People rest all over the outside, and so do people rest all over the inside. Our own courthouse injects into the heart of the city the atmosphere of the county seat. It is entirely foreign to the stir and bustle of a city.

Glaucou: You think the district that has it would be better off without it.
Socrates: Of course it would. What killed the Planters Hotel was people looking out of the windows on the profound quiet of the courthouse. People who go to hotels have to be up and doing. They can't stand the psychological effects of seeing too many people resting in one place. You would as well send a boy to school where he could see a baseball game through the window.

Thrasymachus: By Jove, Socrates! I believe you have it. I observed the people defending the present courthouse site, and there was not a psychologist among them.
Socrates: No. Had there been one he would have said: "Take the courthouse and let us come back. We have carried this corpse long enough."

Polemarchus: Maybe we can have the debate over and let Socrates say something.
Socrates: Tut-tut, Polemarchus. Now let us consider where we are going to get the next installment on our income taxes.

The trouble with the average man is that his sympathies are unsympathetic with his intelligence.

ECHOES.

AND tho' I flee to hide,
With swiftness of a seagull's flight,
Out o'er the wind-swept sea,
Or on the dusty plain abide
To shelter of a tree—
No tempest of the sea, no darkest night
On land—where'er it be—
This miserable I can free
And rescue from its plight.
Where, tell me, pray, that I may flee
The echoes of the voice of thee!

THEY LIKED IT.

(Hm Jimplicite.)
While in Columbia attending School of Journalism week, we took occasion to sound some 50 or 60 editors of Missouri newspapers as to the sentiment in their sections, as they found it, as to the choice for the next Democratic candidate for Governor of Missouri and was surprised to find that nine out of every 10 we talked to were of the opinion that if Frederick D. Gardner was a candidate there would be no second choice and they cited the achievements of Mr. Gardner during the four years he so ably discharged the duties of Governor as the reason why the people were for him.

Sir: Memorial day has come and gone and we have paid our tribute to the dead. Honoring the dead is all right; if confined solely to a sentimental custom; but honoring and rewarding the living is much better, and especially rewarding those who most deserve it.

We have all read of the great service rendered to humanity by the "man who made two blades of grass grow where only one had grown before," yet we find our artists, writers and moving picture stars, those who produce the unnecessary and superfluous things of life, are showered with riches and honors without stint; while the man who raises our wheat and corn, who has the important task of feeding us and keeping us alive, is given but a scanty reward and little or no recognition.

All of which naturally leads us to one of two conclusions: Either the tragedians are right when he said, "This is a mad world, my masters," or we would much rather be starved to death than bored to death.

HE WAS COMING.

(Sikeston (Mo.) Standard.)
One of Sikeston's young men with a pretty but notoriously flirtatious fiancée wrote to a supposed rival, "I've been told that you have been seen kissing my girl. Come to my office at 11 on Friday. I want to have this matter out." The rival answered, "I've received a copy of your circular letter and will be present at the meeting."

SAFETY LAST.

Lies slumbering here on William Lake;
Heard the bell, but had no brake.

At fifty miles drove Ollie Pidd;
He thought he would not skid—but did.

At forty miles drove Eddie Shaw;
The motor stopped, but Ed kept on.

Here he sleeps, one Johnnie Fonker;
He rounded a turn without a honker.

Down in the creek sleeps Jerry Bass;
The bridge was narrow, he tried to pass.

Beneath this stone sleeps William Rains;
Ice on the hill, he had no chains.

Here lies the body of William Pay,
Who died maintaining his right of way.

Here rest the remains of Percival Sap;
He drove his machine with a girl in his lap.

HONOR ALIKE TO GRANT AND LEE

From the Galveston News.
SEVEN busts recently were unveiled in the hall of fame in New York University.

One of them was that of Gen. Ulysses S. Grant. The identity of the other five has nothing to do with the honor simultaneously paid to leaders who were arrayed against each other from 1861 to 1865. On the basis of Grant alone, none may contest the selection of Lee for any American hall of fame. He passed in unusual measure those exalted qualities of bravery, of unselfish and conscientious duty universally recognized in the appropriate trappings may be taken not only as an act of justice to one of America's immortals, but as that the last vestige of prejudice, hatred and partisan misunderstanding has passed away.

Must this evidence of broad-mindedness in those Old World peoples who cherish their through the ages? What European would so honor an erstwhile foe as Lee? He had been arrayed against the people he represented in a sectional strife? The Memorial Appeal commented editorially at length on the selection of Gen. Lee. The action of the university authorities in honoring the leader, the Commercial Appeal declares, was not only the university, but the State of New York as well. A glowing eulogy of Gen. Lee, with the assertion that "hatred, ill will and even misunderstanding of such a man as Lee could not long exist, and it is well that the section against which he engaged in combat should now immortalize his glory."

likewise safe to say that Gen. Grant, who with his late adversary a place of honor in a hall of fame, would have approved of the tribute to the man whose vanquished sword he refused to take.

AMERICAN HISTORY.

From the New York World.

FORTY THOUSAND words contain great possibilities of exploitation. Yet it would be for any writer to achieve more with them than done by Commissioner David Hirschfeld in his report to the Mayor condemning eight public text books of American history as pro-British.

"It is only to be fed to the furnace," writes Hirschfeld, "half a dozen of the country's most competent historians, Prof. Albert Bushnell Hart of Harvard University; exposes a British propaganda plot of proportions, uncovers sinister influences in newspapers, magazines, churches and other agencies of publicity, and lures some score of distinguished citizens entering the propaganda, the inspiring motive which is traced to an 'international power.' Could 40 men with 100 words apiece as much as that? What the Fathers of the public would think of the need of a defense their reputations at the hands of this champion can only be conjectured. They ask to be canonized by tradition and they be satisfied to be painted 'with the words of authors seeking the truth instead of the romance of history. But it is possible to understand New York leaders of opinion, jealous of the national ideals of the city, will think of one who is cynical of progress that utters Puelcher's make cynical.

OIL CONCERNS CALL ARGENTINE FRAUD VERDICT 'GRAVE MISTAKE'

Will Be Easy to Demonstrate in Higher Courts, Statement Declares.

Buenos Aires, June 8.—The West India Oil Co. and the Affiliated Compania Nacional de Petroleo yesterday issued a statement declaring that the Federal Judge who recently returned a verdict that the companies had defrauded the Argentine Customs House of duties on oil valued at more than $2,000,000, made a "grave mistake" based on erroneous information.

ADMEN RE-ELECT HOLLAND

Convention Confirms Selection of London as Next Meeting Place.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 8.—Lou E. Holland of Kansas City, Mo., was re-elected president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World yesterday and the convention confirmed the selection of London, England, for the 1924 gathering. Rooms were launched for Houston, Tex., and Tulsa, Ok., for the 1925 convention, Honolulu in 1926 and Seattle in 1927.

Association. The convention rejected a resolution condemning the French occupation of the Ruhr because it was regarded as controversial.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Twelve-year-old Gladys Rahn of Bellwood, who "never did the dishes at home," yesterday became the champion dishwasher of three townships and won a $10 goldpiece, when, in competition with 27 other schoolgirls, she washed, wiped and stacked two plates, two saucers, two knives, two forks and four spoons in two and one-eighth minutes.

REDDING, Cal., June 8.—The After Thought Copper Co., owning the copper mines, electrolytic smelter and oil flotation plant at Ingot, was closed yesterday when the entire property was knocked down under foreclosure sale to Forest P. Trailles of St. Louis for $100,000. Trailles represented the estate of John T. Milliken, St. Louis millionaire, who advanced $1,191,455 to the company. The great copper property now belongs to the Milliken estate and the bondholders who had an agreement before the foreclosure sale to pay them small ones in the central states and in the South, will realize nothing on their investment as a result of the foreclosure.

HONOLULU, June 8.—The Pacific mail liner, President Taft, made port here yesterday from Yokohama after a run of seven days, eight hours. This breaks the President Wilson's high mark for the run of seven days, 15 hours.

WIFE SUES ARTHUR BERGMAN

Sets Forth His Sentence as Embellisher as Grounds for Divorce.

Mrs. Katherine Bergman of 8 Lewis place yesterday filed suit to divorce Arthur Bergman, former secretary-treasurer of the Meyer Dairy Equipment Co., who was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary, two years on each of two embezzlement charges, following his plea of guilty Dec. 5 last. An audit of Bergman's accounts disclosed a shortage of $44,409.71. The only allegation in the divorce petition was the statutory one that Bergman had been convicted of a felony. They were married in 1911 and separated last October. Bergman was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary in 1913 for the embezzlement of $2888 from the King Packing Co., but was paroled and did not serve any of the term.

Chance for St. Louis to Get Guard Air Unit

Adjutant-General Raupp to Announce Decision on the Location Soon.

An air service for the National Guard throughout the United States has been authorized by the War Department, and St. Louis has an opportunity to secure that unit for the district comprising Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska, said Adjutant-General W. A. Raupp of the National Guard of Missouri, yesterday, at a special meeting of the St. Louis Board, which has charge of general arrangements for the 1923 meet of the National Aeronautic Association including the Pulitzer trophy plane speed race, to be held at St. Louis Oct. 1-2. Gen. Raupp said it virtually had been decided to establish the National Guard air service unit in Missouri, provided ample facilities were offered by this State, and he added Kansas City, Joplin and Springfield already had applied for the unit. "The National Guard air service unit to be placed somewhere in Missouri," said Gen. Raupp, "is to be a National Guardmen in this important branch of military defense will consist of 120 men, including sections devoted to observation, intelligence and photography. Personnel will be recruited like members of the National Guard, preference will be given to former airmen of the army. St. Louis

An air service for the National Guard throughout the United States has been authorized by the War Department, and St. Louis has an opportunity to secure that unit for the district comprising Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska, said Adjutant-General W. A. Raupp of the National Guard of Missouri, yesterday, at a special meeting of the St. Louis Board, which has charge of general arrangements for the 1923 meet of the National Aeronautic Association including the Pulitzer trophy plane speed race, to be held at St. Louis Oct. 1-2. Gen. Raupp said it virtually had been decided to establish the National Guard air service unit in Missouri, provided ample facilities were offered by this State, and he added Kansas City, Joplin and Springfield already had applied for the unit. "The National Guard air service unit to be placed somewhere in Missouri," said Gen. Raupp, "is to be a National Guardmen in this important branch of military defense will consist of 120 men, including sections devoted to observation, intelligence and photography. ## CHANCE FOR ST. LOUIS TO GET GUARD AIR UNIT

Adjutant-General Raupp to Announce Decision on the Location Soon.

An air service for the National Guard throughout the United States has been authorized by the War Department, and St. Louis has an opportunity to secure that unit for the district comprising Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska, said Adjutant-General W. A. Raupp of the National Guard of Missouri, yesterday, at a special meeting of the St. Louis Air Board, which has charge of general arrangements for the 1923 meet of the National Aeronautic Association, including the Pulitzer trophy airplane speed race, to be held in St. Louis Oct. 1-3.

Gen. Raupp said it virtually had been decided to establish the National Guard air service unit in Missouri, provided ample facilities are offered by this State, and, he added, Kansas City, Joplin and Springfield already had applied for the unit.

"The National Guard air service unit to be placed somewhere in Missouri," said Gen. Raupp, "is to train National Guardsmen in this important branch of military defense and will consist of 120 men, including sections devoted to observation, intelligence and photography. The personnel will be recruited like other members of the National Guard, but preference will be given to former aviators of the army." St. Louis has about 400 such men with air service experience in the World War, the largest number of any city in the State. The War Department is to provide two steel hangars, eight airplanes, a machine shop and other necessary equipment."

Gen. Raupp and Col. C. S. Thornton of the 138th Infantry, National Guard of Missouri, were special guests at the Air Board meeting, and Louis P. Aloe, chairman of the Air Board Reserve Unit Committee, urged the claims of St. Louis to the proposed National Guard air service unit. He pointed out that the national air races next October would give St. Louis the best air terminal in the Middle West, which would entitle this city to the proposed new unit.

The decision lies with Gen. Raupp and he promised soon to announce the city to which will be awarded the National Guard aerial unit.

DROWNED IN SWOLLEN STREAM

Camper Swept From Mule's Back After Heavy Rain at Seneca, Mo. By the Associated Press.

JOPLIN, Mo., June 8.—One person was drowned and many houses and a number of residences at Seneca, Mo., 20 miles south of here, were flooded as the result of a rain Wednesday night.

Eddie Gateway, 22 years old, a camper, was drowned when he was swept from the back of a mule in attempting to ford a swollen stream. The flood waters stood more than a foot deep on the streets.

TRINITY CHURCH REALTY TITLE NOT ATTACKED, SAYS COUNSEL

Declares Lease, on Which Omaha Man Asserts Church Owes $675,000,000 Is Not on Record.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 8.—Historic Trinity Church has no litigation against it questioning title to its real estate holdings, William B. Sprague, counsel for the corporation, said yesterday in denying knowledge of an assertion made in Omaha, Neb., that the church was responsible to the heirs of Robert Macomber for real estate and lease money valued at $675,000,000.

Reports of money due heirs for land leases from Trinity were cropping up all the time, he asserted, and were based on the erroneous belief that the corporation held property under lease subject to the disposition of heirs. The church holds no land under lease, he said.

R. L. Henderson of Omaha declared that the Macomber property, consisting of 109 acres of land, had been leased to Trinity Church for 99 years by his great-great-grandfather, Sprague said there was no mention in Trinity's history of any land belonging to a Robert Macomber.

ALLEGED MAKER OF LIQUOR HELD IN FATAL ACCIDENT

Accused of Manslaughter, in First Case Under New Iowa Law, As Result of Auto Death.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., June 8.—Wesley Confare, accused of having made the liquor that caused an automobile accident resulting in a death, is in jail at Manchester, Ia., on a charge of manslaughter. If he is convicted, the constitutionality of the law recently passed by the State Legislature covering cases of this kind, will be tested. This is the first arrested under the new law.

Garnar Estling was driving the automobile which killed Homer S. Kearns.

James McCusker, who is alleged to have given Estling the liquor, and Estling are in jail, charged with manslaughter.

Confare is charged with manufacturing the moonshine.

Under the new law, the person who originally sells an intoxicant which causes an accident is as guilty as the person directly responsible. In this case, the liquor passed through two hands before it reached Estling.

SIX HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Girl, 4, Suffers Serious Internal Injuries When Knocked Down.
Marie Groves, 4 years old, of 2208 South Seventh street, suffered serious internal injuries at 2:30 p. m. yesterday when knocked down by an automobile driven by Allen Branson of 2647 South Broadway in front of 2207 South Seventh street.

Others injured yesterday in motor vehicle accidents were Mrs. Ollie Allen, 44 years old, of 4922a Laclede avenue and her daughter, Marie, 26, a cashier, both cut and bruised when knocked down by an automobile driven by Arthur Autenrieth of Clayton, at Lindell boulevard and Euclid avenue; Joseph O'Hare, 53, of 4233 Arco avenue, stoker for the engineering company No. 29, cuts and bruised, when an axle on the engine broke causing him to fall to the street in front of 4006 Gratiot street, and Mrs. Julia Marquis, 39, of 4428 North Nineteenth street, nose fractured when an automobile driven by her husband collided with a truck on the highway between Euclid and Natural Bridge avenues. Pinkelstein was cut and bruised also.

$141,000 TRIP TO CONEY ISLAND

Messenger, 18, Says He Gave Bonds To Strangers Who Entertained Him.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 8.—A roseate future described by two strangers who supported their claims by acting as host on an excursion to Coney Island, proved too strong a temptation for James Foley, 18 year-old messenger for Charles B. Barney and Company, brokerage house.

Arrested, charged with stealing $141,000 in bonds which he reported on Tuesday that he had lost, he declared that night at Coney Island was all he had received from the strangers in return for the bonds.

Saunders Settles Suit for $5000.

By the Associated Press.
MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 8.—Suit for $100,000 filed by Dr. J. D. Durrett, Memphis City Health Officer, against Clarence Saunders, president of the Piggly-Wiggly Stores, Inc., several months ago, was settled yesterday by Saunders' payment to the plaintiff of $5000 and his agreement to publish a retraction. Dr. Durrett sued, alleging slander. The alleged grounds for the court action were incident to the campaign preliminary to municipal elections nearly a year ago. The Memphis health officer charged that the Piggly-Wiggly head, in newspaper advertisements, had made statements which were damaging to the complainant.

Fur Coat Part of Alimony.

ELWOOD, Ind.—Not satisfied with $1500 alimony, $100 for support and her former name, which were awarded to her when she was granted a divorce from Alva E. Alexander, Rosetta L. Alexander entered a claim for her husband's fur overcoat. The Court issued an order that the overcoat be given to her.

A Priceless Secret for Mothers of Fretful Babies

Every mother wants her baby to be well, comfortable—rosy with health and happiness.

USE KORA KONIA EVERY TIME THE BABY'S DIAPERS ARE CHANGED

Kora Konia is a powder of remarkable healing-and-soothing virtue, which relieves and prevents chafing, rashes, scalding, inflammation, prickly heat, etc.

Do not confuse Kora Konia with "baby powders." Kora Konia forms—when spread—a soft, WATERPROOF film against the infant's tender flesh!

This means that diaper acids and wet cloths are kept AWAY from the skin. Mothers who have learned this priceless secret have seen their babies begin at once to rest better, eat better and feel better. Kora Konia is quickly applied again when the diaper is changed. # ST. LOUIS-CHICAGO HARD ROAD SOON TO BE COMPLETED

Work to Be Virtually Finished by End of Summer With Exception of Small Gap in Sangamon County

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
BLOOMINGTON, Ill.—Last completed last fall, due to the rival of cold weather, a short gap in the Illinois boulevard, connecting Chicago and St. Louis, in the vicinity of Lexington, 16 miles north of Bloomington, was formally dedicated to traffic a few days ago.

The road, which gives an unbroken stretch of the hard road between Bloomington and Dwight, 53 miles, costing the State approximately $1,150,000, is hardly a curve in the line, one exception being a wanda where the road takes a full swing around the village to avoid congesting the street.

The tide of motor travel greeted the formal opening of the new highway is indicative of greater amount when the road is completed, probably by next fall. The gap of 16 miles between Dwight and Joliet is now being constructed and the remainder is under contract and should be opened to traffic before snow flies. As the highway is now being completed, a stretch of a mile and a half between Joliet and Chicago.

Southwest of Bloomington, Springfield, there is a great deal of work to be done in the following year. Concrete highway work is now being done in the Springfield and Logan area and 40 miles more will be completed by the end of the year. The State Highway Department originally planned to leave the boulevard through Joliet, Funka Grove, the only limitation between the two terminals, but this plan is being changed.

ST. LOUIS-CHICAGO HARD ROAD SOON TO BE COMPLETED

Work to Be Virtually Finished by End of Summer
With Exception of Short Gap in Sangamon County.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
BLOOMINGTON, Ill.—Left uncompleted last fall, due to the arrival of cold weather, a short gap in the Illinois boulevard, connecting Chicago and St. Louis, in the vicinity of Lexington, 16 miles northeast of Bloomington, was formally opened to traffic a few days ago. This gives an unbroken stretch of the new hard road between Bloomington and Dwight, 53 miles, costing the State of Illinois approximately $1,500,000. There is hardly a curve to break the line, one exception being at Towaunda where the road takes a graceful swing around the village to avoid congesting the principal street.

The tide of motor travel that greeted the formal opening of the new highway is indicative of a still greater amount when the remainder between Chicago and St. Louis is completed, probably by next fall. The gap of 16 miles between Joliet and Dwight is now being completed. A portion was constructed last fall and the remainder is under contract and should be opened for traffic before snow flies. As the road between Joliet and Chicago has been completed for some time, this will complete a stretch of approximately 150 miles between Bloomington and Chicago.

(Southwest of Bloomington to Springfield there is great activity following the completion of the grading last year. Concrete surface is being laid at work on every section in McLean and Logan counties and 40 miles more will be completed during the summer.)

The State Highway Department originally planned to leave a gap in the boulevard through picturesque Funk's Grove, the only timbered section between the two metropolitan terminals, but this plan has been changed. Heavy fills and cuts were made in the grove and it was first believed that this stretch should be allowed six months to settle. Rain storms this spring, however, have been efficacious in packing the fills and it is now safe to lay the slabs of concrete. As a result the boulevard will be constructed this year between Bloomington and Sangamon County.

Some delay in obtaining the right-of-way northeast of Springfield promises to delay construction until next year, although the grading will likely be completed this year. South of Springfield to St. Louis, the road is already completed. Therefore, the close of the present summer will see the great boulevard opened between Chicago and St. Louis with the possible exception of a short gap of 10 miles in Sangamon County, northeast of the State Capital.

PRESIDENT TO REVIEW BATTLE FLEET OF SCOTLAND

Concentration of About 50 Ships of the Navy There July 27 Ordered by the Department.
WASHINGTON, June 8.—President Harding will review the United States battle fleet off Seattle, July 27, it became known today when the Navy Department issued orders for the concentration of the various units of the fleet in that locality.

The department today sent the following dispatch to Rear Admiral S. S. Robinson, acting commander-in-chief of the battle fleet: "In view of President's arrival at Seattle department desires battle fleet itinerary modified so that all forces in Puget Sound waters may be assembled off Seattle not later than July 26, prepared to be reviewed by the President of the United States July 27."

APPLES ON 97-YEAR-OLD TREE

It is at Vancouver, Wash.—Fruit of Fine Flavor.
VANCOUVER, Wash.—The oldest living apple tree in the Northwest and one of the few so old in the United States, now 97 years old, is in full bearing for another season. This tree is growing in the lower part of the Vancouver, baronies and was planted in 1836. The fruit, tree is in good condition and promises to live far beyond the century mark. The trunk, a few feet above the ground, is more than three feet in diameter and the spreading foliage covers a large area.

The apples are medium, yellow streaked with orange, but possess a fine flavor.

Plans for Unified Electrical System Capable of Supplying Power Needs of U.S. Advanced

Engineering Details of Project, Similar in Scope to Federal Reserve Bank System, Explained at Session in New York.

By Leonard Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Details of the plan, often discussed in theory, to develop a huge, unified, privately owned electrical system, capable of supplying the power needs of the entire country, are being worked out with the active support of the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing Co. Its fulfillment requiring years would mean an investment of $5,000,000,000 and an increase of probably $1,000,000,000 a year in money spent for electricity. It would bring electric light to millions of farms. It would offer a practical method of electrifying almost all of the steam railroads of the country.

Present tendencies leading toward such a system were outlined before the convention of the National Electrical Light Association at the Hotel Commodore Wednesday by Guy E. Tripp, chairman of the Westinghouse board of directors.

Elaborate engineering details of the proposed system were explained by Frank G. Baum, consulting engineer of San Francisco, who has spent more than a year in developing the idea beyond the stage of theory. He and Mr. Tripp, who spoke only in general terms, did not refer to each other. It was learned at the Westinghouse offices, however, that Baum's plans have been approved by Westinghouse engineers and that Westinghouse money is subsidizing the movement to put them into effect.

Propose Pool of Systems.
The plan contemplates carefully directed extensions by the efforts of existing private companies, of present central stations and transmission lines. Within a few years almost all important generating stations and transmission lines would be pooled in half a dozen "super systems."

Later the "super-systems" would be linked up into one unit. The unified system, selling in one city power it has obtained from a station 1000 miles away, would be to electricity what the Federal Reserve banks are to finance.

For economic reasons independent companies already have started co-operative super-systems. Seven companies, for example, now supply power to Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, South Carolina and North Carolina through unified transmission lines. California companies have formed another such system. The final stage will provide the greatest difficulty, requiring formation of a huge new company, heavy investment and construction of miles of new lines. Even in this, however, the problem is not one of engineering and finance, according to Tripp, but is "social and political." "Super-systems," he said, "would be shining marks for advocates of Government ownership." Although opposing this, he favored Government control.

Will Increase Productiveness.
Such an abundant and widely distributed supply of electricity, he continued, "will usher in a new era in the history of civilization" by increasing the productiveness of farms, improving transportation, promoting mining, increasing the effectiveness of human labor, conserving fuel resources, providing ample facilities for industry and drawing people from congested cities by making rural life more comfortable.

Technically, the essential feature of the ultimate system planned by Baum would be the placing of synchronous condensers or regulators, which also act as electric stabilizers, at about every 200 miles of transmission lines. The lines would carry 220,000 volts, which is the voltage now used over the "world's record transmission line" in Southern California. The function of the regulators is to maintain the time relation of current and voltage, producing the highest economy by stability for all points on the line. "The power flow could be reversed over sections or over the entire system and the constant potential condition maintained. In this way the power system would have a flexibility comparable to a railway system. The supply of power for such a system would come from the best of the present generating stations, both steam and water power, throughout the country and from new stations which would have to be constructed. This would include important development of available, practical waterpower."

EXCITEMENT OVER VENUS STATUE
Work of Phidias Reported Taken From Italy to France.

NAPLES, June 8.—Considerable excitement has been caused by a report that the celebrated statue of Venus Genetrix by Phidias, excavated in 1912, has been taken to France.

The statue was originally bought by Marquis Pinelli, who sold it to the Rothschilds for 170,000 francs. So far it has not been determined how the statue could have been taken across the frontier.

French Consul at Ghent University. At the same time, however, the Senators voted, 12 to 6, that certain courses could be taught in French.

FRENCH HESITATE TO LET U. S. FUNDS INTO TERRITORIES

Chamber of Deputies Divided Over Plan to Admit American Capital for Colonial Exploitation.

PARTIAL ADMITTANCE FAVORED BY SOME

French Control Over Enterprises in Dependencies Would Be Maintained Under Proposed Method.

Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
PARIS.—In the report he is writing for the Chamber Finance Committee, M. Gratiot Candace, Deputy of the Guadeloupe, will ask that American funds be allowed in private concerns in the French colonies with the condition that French funds always be in majority.

When the French Chamber reconvenes early next month the bill presented by M. Albert Sarraut, Minister of the Colonies, concerning the exploitation of France's over-sea possessions, will be placed on the agenda and reports presented by the Chamber colonies and finance committees.

Candace's View.
"I am in favor of an American participation," M. Candace declared.
"But in any circumstances, the French capitalists must have the majority. The scheme of some American capitalists for the exploitation of French colonies, of North Africa in particular, is not acceptable for that reason."

"Besides, the Anglo-Saxon methods of colonization are widely different from ours. The Anglo-Saxons consider first of all the material field to exploit in a business way, while we have other aims. They do not feel the way we do toward colored people. Therefore it would be a diminution of the French sovereignty having American capitalists owning the land, managing plants and stretching gradually over the country. These are the reasons why I have been an opponent of the introduction of American capital in the Antilles."

Loan Flotation Proposed.
M. Candace explained that approximately 4,500,000,000 francs are required to begin the large public works proposed by the bill and that these sums can very well be collected by the different Colonial administrations if they float loans guaranteed by their local budgets.
One of the chief aims of M. Sarraut is to develop the culture of cotton in French colonies, as the United States exports less raw cotton every year, thus handicapping the textile industries of France which lack raw materials.

At the French Chamber political leaders are divided into three groups

over the question of American capital in the colonies. Some believe that the colonies should be exploited at the earliest possible time in full wherever the money comes from.

M. Leon Archimbaud is among them.
Another group, headed by M. Henri Lorin, is of the opinion that the colonies should be exploited almost exclusively by French capital. A large number of others believe, like M.

Candace, that American capital may safely be admitted up to the 50-50 limit. The Minister of Colonies is reported to be of the last group.
It is probable that disputes will stir the Chamber when the bill be discussed.

Would Limit Number of Ministers.
By the Associated Press.
EL PASO, Tex., June 8.—A bill to limit the number of ministers of any one denomination in Chihuahua to 25 and providing they shall be native born, has been introduced in the State Legislature there, Rev. Father L. G. Soule of Guadalupe Mission of Juarez, has been informed. He predicted the measure would be fought vigorously. The bill is similar to that which precipitated a riot in Durango City last week in which 10 persons were killed and 17 injured.

FRENCH GENERALS ASSAILED IN BOOK

Former Officer Would Strip
Joffre of Credit for Marne—
Does Not Even Spare Foch.

By A. M. MURRAY.
Of the Post-Dispatch's Paris Bureau.
PARIS, May 28.—The war laurels of France's famous Generals have been rudely shaken by a former officer, Jean de Pierrefeu, in a book with the enigmatic title of "Plutarque a Menti" (Plutarch Lied). During a considerable period of the war the author was attached to the French Grand Headquarters Staff and it was he who drew up the communiques relating the daily operations of the armies in France.

Cryptic at times, more often sarcastic or ironical, M. de Pierrefeu invokes Napoleon's testimony in many interviews in his criticism of the conduct of the war. There is no ambiguity, however, in his onslaughts on the French Generals whose military reputation he sets himself out ruthlessly to demolish. Marshal Foch himself is not spared; his victories are ascribed to luck more than to the Generalissimo's genius. The author grants him an "ardent imagination" and makes the assertion that as a result of the natural play of that imagination the Marshal "was ignorant of the real nature of modern warfare."

That Foch's military leadership was not all that the popular mind imagined has been insinuated before in some quarters, but nothing so definite has been published as the blunt statements contained in the book of M. de Pierrefeu.

This treatment of Foch prepares readers for a scathing indictment of Joffre and his Grand Staff. The initial blunder of rushing the French armies to the Eastern frontiers while the Germans were pouring through Belgium and the North of France is laid bare with pitiless detail, and the author shows how easy it would have been for a leader with initiative and imagination as well as technical knowledge to have adapted the transport arrangements to swing the troops around to meet the Kaiser's hosts and check the invasion of French territory.

Gen. Lannes, it is related, argued with Joffre over this before the Battle of Charleroi, but failed to persuade him to give the necessary orders. Had he succeeded, the whole course of the war would have been changed; Charleroi would never have been fought, or, if fought, might have been a French victory; trench warfare would not have frozen the hostilities to French soil.

M. de Pierrefeu strips Joffre of all credit for the victory of the Marne, which he attributes to Gen. Gallieni.

Gen. Nivelle is severely criticized and is blamed for the failure of the Champagne offensive in April, 1917. Almost the only military chief who escapes De Pierrefeu's caustic pen is Marshal Petain, for whom he professes unqualified admiration.

"But 'Plutarque Lied' smashes the reputation of the majority of Generals both on the French and (German) sides. The war was won by luck, not by skill or leadership. Both of the latter were absent, according to M. de Pierrefeu, in the conduct of the great war."

Another book that has caused some stir is "Les Defaillistes," by Louis Dumur. "Defailliste" is a word that was coined in the middle period of the war to denote a category of individuals who, either through genuine pessimism or with more malevolent designs, did their best to implant the idea of impending defeat and disaster in the minds of the French people. "Les Defaillistes" is a history of some of the more famous "affaires" written in the form of a novel, with love adventures and episodes woven into it.

The story of Mata-Hari, the beautiful Indian spy, is told over again, with many new details (imaginary, perhaps), and vivid pictures are drawn of the world of intrigue in which so many men and women of doubtful reputation moved and plotted and spied in those exciting days when the fate of nations was trembling in the balance.

There is the story of the "Bonnet Rouge" gang, leaders of the "Defaillistes" press, several of whom paid with their lives for toying with treason. Bolo Pasha, who sought to buy Le Journal for German propaganda and was shot at Vincennes; Malvy, the weak Minister of the Interior, who allowed the work of undermining the morale of the country to proceed unchecked till Clemenceau's vigorous broom swept the soil clear of traitors and demi-traitors; and Caillaux, whose imprudence brought him to the High Court and cost him his political rights, are portrayed in graphic fashion with a lurid background of history and human passions that makes the book thrilling from beginning to end.

The hectic and blatant methods adopted of late by French authors and publishers in launching new books have begun to provoke a reaction in literary circles. The Revue Mondiale has taken the initiative in denouncing methods which some writers compare to the advertising campaigns heralding a new soap or a patent medicine.

As for vivid-hued cover bands and startling titles with little or no relation to the contents, or a cubist illustration accompanying the publisher's notice promising readers unprecedented sensations, it is considered necessary nowadays for the author himself more or less discreetly to awaken public interest in his person by doing something extraordinary or eccentric—disappearing for a week, for instance, while the police search vainly and newspapers print columns of romantic hypotheses; or spreading rumors of unseemly habits; or insinuating that he employed some poor literary hack to write his novels for him.

"Sheer vulgarity" is the opinion of "highbrow" critics, and, indeed, of many others. "The product of intellect ought not to be advertised like canned peas."

"More especially," rejoins another critic—with a sense of the practical

—"as a purchaser can return a can of peas if they are not up to the standard advertised, but one cannot conceive of a reader taking a book back to the publisher because the latter's 'boost' has not been made good by the contents."

MURDERER, ON WAY TO DEATH, CONFESSES ANOTHER CRIME

Admits He Was Guilty of Robbery for Which Man Is Serving Prison Sentence.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Thomas Kindlon, convicted murderer, before he went to the electric chair in Sing Sing last night, confessed he was guilty of a robbery for which William Carmody has served nearly two years of a five-year term in Clinton prison.

Kindlon's confession came too late to bring him clemency for the killing, of which he said he was innocent, and it may prove to have been too long delayed to enable Carmody to obtain release. Father, William E. Casbin, chaplain of Sing Sing, to whom Kindlon told his story yesterday afternoon, and William Lewis E. Lawes, warden, tried to get in touch with Gov. Smith to obtain an executive order for a stay of execution. As a result, Kindlon was

FARIS REFUSES ORDER FOR OPERATION OF GOLTRA BARGES

He Declines to Interfere in Government Petition While Case Is Before Supreme Court.

Federal Judge Faris refused an order today permitting the Government River Service to use the fleet of four towboats and 19 barges comprising the Goltra fleet pending decision by the United States Supreme Court of litigation affecting Goltra's lease for the barges.

His refusal, the judge stated, was solely because he would not meddle in the case while it was in the Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court has clearly indicated its intention to assume jurisdiction," he said. However, he suggested that counsel for the River Service, which is operated by the War Department, and counsel for Goltra, agree on a stipulation for use of the fleet pending the Supreme Court decision. Joseph T. Davis, attorney for Goltra, refused. He said Goltra was preparing to seek an order permitting him to use the boats and if the order was granted, would operate the fleet.

Counsel for the Government requested that Judge Faris put his denial of its motion in the record. "You may have that," the judge said, "and my best wishes go with you. I have no doubt that the Government could operate the fleet. It operated the railroads."

Davis said there was "some doubt" of that, as the Government has mismanaged those barges which it was operating.

"Down Among the Sleepy Hills of Tennessee"

OUR dancing friends will vote us a big "Thank You" testimonial for this delightfully melodious and wondrously rhythmic fox-trot, "Down Among the Sleepy Hills of Tennessee."

It has all that come-on-and-dance urge that brings the whole crowd right out on the floor, bright eyed and "rarin' to go," with their enthusiasm mounting higher at every step.

As an added attraction there is another fox-trot on the other side, "Beside a Babbling Brook," that is as smooth as peaches and cream.

This record—A-3869—is only one of the many fine selections listed in this newest Columbia Release. All of these new records are Columbia New Process Records—made with the super-quiet surface from which the scratch and scrape of surface noise is so delightfully absent.

Take the accompanying list of newest song hits, dance hits and choice Symphony selections to your Columbia Dealer and play them yourself in his hearing room. You will be delighted.

Only in Columbia New Process Records will you find a positive absence of irritating surface noise. The process is patented. No one else can produce records even resembling Columbia construction and improved surface.

All Columbia Records can be played on any phonograph.

FORMER HEAD OF KENTUCKY BANKERS GOES TO PRISON

Claude D. Minor Sentenced by Judge Who Had Been Friend in Democratic Politics for Years.

NOT GUILTY OF ANY INTENTIONAL WRONG

No Evidence to Prove He Used Funds for Personal Benefit; May Yet Prove Worth, Court Says.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. HARRISBURG, Ky.—Claude D. Minor, former president of the Kentucky Bankers' Association, former Democratic floor leader in the Kentucky Legislature, social favorite and leader in church circles in his hometown of Perryville, Ky., is in a penitentiary.

He accepted a three years' sentence imposed upon him for alleged irregularities practiced at the People's Bank of Perryville, Boyle County, and pleaded guilty to two other indictments growing out of the situation at the bank as a result of which the institution failed. Because Minor dropped his appeal for a new trial on his conviction and decided not to fight the charges, 19 indictments against him growing out of his reputed part in the bank's troubles were dismissed. Minor will serve eight years in there comes into the Governor's office an executive who will hear pleas for pardon expected to be made within three years. Minor was cashier of the People's Bank of Perryville. He was found guilty by a jury of unlawfully disposing of bonds of G. A. Hughes placed in the bank. The charges to which he pleaded guilty were of accepting deposits after the bank was insolvent. These drew him 2 1/2 years each.

Sentence Pronounced by Friend. When Minor was asked by trial judge if he had any statement to make, he said he desired to go to the Court publicly that in transaction charged against him he act for his own personal benefit but in all the transactions had solely for the benefit of the People's Bank and its stockholders; that making these transactions, he was not guilty of any intentional wrong and was unconscious of any guilt, and that he never received one cent from any of the deals.

Circuit Judge Charles A. Hall, a friend of Minor for years, and had worked with him in Democratic politics, pronounced sentence, said that: "In all the evidence has been brought forward in (the Hughes case) there was no evidence to prove that you used funds for your personal benefit; there are laws of the land that protect people who place a trust in individual or a corporation, and must confirm the verdict of the court and pass judgment on you in violation of that trust, whether intended to violate it or not."

Judge Hardin told Minor, with his brains, ability and magnetism, he had an opportunity to reach a high place in the law, and even now, with these pendurments, he had an opportunity to reach a high place in the law and make up in a moment for the wrongs he had committed when they were identified.

Takes His Sentence Quietly. Minor took his sentence quietly, but his face quivered slightly. Judge Hardin spoke of the opportunity he had thrown away. Minor, after a long silence, said that he was not in the court room for the first time. He was in the court room for the first time. He was in the court room for the first time. He was in the court room for the first time.

Charges which were dismissed included claims that Minor had deposited names and that violated practically all banks. One of his own alleged aliases "A. Mann," who had a bank account in the bank. It was said who did not exist.

Girl's Eyelid Bitten by Snake. Ethel Davis, 9 years old, of George street, was bitten on the left eyelid and twice on the forehead yesterday afternoon by a snake. ## FORMER HEAD OF KENTUCKY BANKERS GOES TO PRISON

Claude D. Minor Sentenced by Judge Who Had Been Friend in Democratic Politics for Years.

NOT GUILTY OF ANY INTENTIONAL WRONG

No Evidence to Prove He Used Funds for Personal Benefit; May Yet Prove Worth, Court Says.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. HARRODSBURG, Ky.—Claude D. Minor, former president of the Kentucky Bankers' Association, former Democratic floor leader in the Kentucky Legislature, social favorite and leader in church circles in his home town of Perryville, Ky., is in the penitentiary.

He accepted a three years' prison sentence imposed upon him for alleged irregularities practiced at his own People's Bank of Perryville, Boyle County, and pleaded guilty to two other indictments growing out of the situation at the bank as a result of which the institution failed.

Minor dropped his appeal for a new trial on his conviction and decided not to fight the other charges. 19 indictments against him growing out of his reputed part in the bank's troubles were dismissed.

Minor will serve eight years unless there comes into the Governor's chair an executive who will hear the plea for pardon expected to be made within three years.

Minor was cashier of the People's Bank of Perryville. He was found guilty by a jury of unlawfully disposing of bonds of G. A. Hughes placed in the bank. The two charges to which he pleaded guilty were of accepting deposits after the bank was insolvent. These cases drew him 2 1/2 years each.

Sentence Pronounced by Friend.

When Minor was asked by the trial judge if he had any statement to make, he said he desired to state to the Court publicly that in no transaction charged against him did he act for his own personal benefit but in all the transactions he acted solely for the benefit of the People's Bank and its stockholders; that, in making these transactions, he was not guilty of any intentional wrong, and was unconscious of any legal guilt, and that he never personally received one cent from any of the deals.

Circuit Judge Charles A. Hardin, a friend of Minor for years, and who worked with him in Democratic politics, pronounced sentence. He said that: "In all the evidence that has been brought forward in this (the Hughes case) there was no evidence to prove that you used the funds for your personal benefit, but there are laws of the land that protect people who place a trust in an individual or a corporation, and I must confirm the verdict of the jury and pass judgment on you in the violation of that trust, whether you intended to violate it or not."

Judge Hardin told Minor that, with his brains, ability and personal magnetism, he had an opportunity to reach a high place in the world, and even now, with these personal endowments, he had an opportunity, even in confinement, to prove his worth and make up in a measure for the wrongs he had committed, whether they were intentional or not.

Takes His Sentence Quietly.

Minor took his sentence quietly but his face quivered slightly when Judge Hardin spoke of the opportunity he had thrown away. A moment afterward, however, Minor was chatting amiably with his attorneys and friends who had come up to shake hands with him.

Mrs. Minor, who had been with her husband every day during his trial, was not in the court room when final action was taken.

The case was transferred from Boyle to Mercer County on motion of defense. It being claimed that on account of tense feeling Minor could not get a fair trial in his home county.

Charges which were dismissed included claims that Minor had faked depositors' names and that he had isolated practically all banking laws. One of his own alleged aliases was "A. Mann," who had a healthy account in the bank. It was said, but who did not exist.

Girl's Eyelid Bitten by Dog.

Elmer Davis, 9 years old, of 409 St. George street, was bitten through the left eyelid and twice on the scalp yesterday afternoon by a dog owned by Mrs. Harry Raaf, who lives up stairs at the St. George street address. The child was passing through the yard at the time. Police reported Mrs. Raaf has three dogs, none of which is muzzled or licensed. She was ordered to keep them confined.

101 Chinese Taken in Raids.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Police of the bomb squad and 20 immigration inspectors yesterday arrested 101 Chinese, charged with being illegal in the United States, in a series of raids in Long Island City factories. The raids followed a complaint of the American Legion of Queens that illegal labor was being used in the

To Increase Strength and Bring Back the Health of Youth to Middle Age

New York Doctor Says French Discovery of Nature's Marvelous Health-Building Element Supplied in ARUM, Drives Quickly Grows Most Astonishing New Strength to Sick, Nervous, Run-Down Folks. Now Being Used by Thousands—Amazing Results Reported.

Broken in health by the inroads of middle age, fast losing their grip, sick men and women who have been weak, run-down, nervous and ailing for years often quickly gain the energy to "come back," and once more feel, act and look younger through the magic-like power of Nature's great revitalizing element, supplied in ARUM," says a well-known New York Doctor.

This marvelous power in ARUM helps throw off the old worn-out tissues, and rebuilds them with new; it helps stop the shake and tremble of the hands by its effect on the nerve cells, and adds millions of red blood corpuscles to carry renewed health, strength and increased vitality to every part of your body. Men and women whose arteries were slowly beginning to harden and age have had these vital blood channels made soft and pliable again through the action of the revitalizing forces in ARUM. Organs that have apparently ceased to work normally are often quickly brought back to proper activity—frayed, hanging nerves soothed—the energy revived and the entire system toned up in a most amazing manner.

Altogether too many people, especially those between the ages of 40 and 50 are suffering from nervous disorders, kidney and liver complaints, dangerously high blood pressure, thin blood, poor circulation, stomach and intestinal troubles and sleeplessness. Yet with the revitalizing power of ARUM it should be easy for them to quickly enrich the blood, strengthen the nerves, put strength into the veins and fortify the body against disease and signs of premature old age.

So definite is the action of ARUM that it goes right to the minute it enters the body and sets up healthy functioning of the blood and organs almost immediately. You often begin to feel this amazing, revitalizing influence on your system within only 24 hours time. Yet ARUM is so harmless that even a child may take it with perfect safety.

If you want to watch the amazing improvement in yourself each day and feel and see the extraordinary change that is taking place—if you want to be rid of indigestion and bowel irregularity—have the lines and wrinkles and age smoothed out—bring your blood pressure and weight to normal and banish the agony of rheumatism, neuritis and gout and see your body a magnetic vibration of a new found power—all at a cost that is practically nothing compared to the results you will find it well worth trying ARUM for two weeks and watch while happens in your own case. It may seem too good to be true, but the test on yourself will tell. There are no drugs in ARUM and success is guaranteed so you run no risk whatever. Your local druggists state that they now have a sufficient supply of ARUM on hand to meet immediate demands.

Be Young—Not Old—at 50

Full of "zip" with strong nerves, rich red blood and keen alert mind—the man of 50 who thought he was worn out feels and looks almost like a boy again once he sees a youthful activity with the power of ARUM.

BOTH OF THESE MEN ARE 50

"All in all, I'm strong, healthy, and full of life—down and discouraged at 50—looking at a man 40, feeling that the best years of his life have gone and that nothing is worth while."

The POST-DISPATCH is the only St. Louis evening newspaper giving Associated Press news service.

RUMANIA RESUMES RUSSIAN TRADING ON A GOLD BASIS

Bessarabian Frontier, Closed for Two Years to Soviet Land, Then Port of Private Barter, Now Busy.

GOVERNMENT TO REGULATE THE TRADE

Strategic Importance of Rumania as Base for Commercial Relations With Russia Recognized.

Special Correspondence of the Manchester Guardian and the Post-Dispatch.

BUCHAREST.—With the improved political relations between Russia and Rumania, which have been most noticeable since the first Lausanne Conference, a changing sentiment in regard to commercial relations is becoming more and more discernible.

For more than two years the Bessarabian frontier was absolutely closed to the trade between Rumania and Russia, but since the beginning of this year there have been frequent well-authenticated reports of an expanding volume of private trade being conducted across the frontier, mostly, at first, on a barter basis, and involving principally grains and wines from Bessarabia in return for metals and other mineral products from Russia. Later shipments from Rumania have comprised other commodities, for which gold has been received in payment.

To Regulate Customs. The volume of trade has now developed to the point where the Rumanian Government is considering the advisability of stepping in—not, apparently, to stop trading, but better to regulate it, and presumably to see that customs formalities are properly complied with.

The strategic importance of Rumania as a base for commercial relations with Russia is being increasingly recognized by several large corporations well known in the manufacturing world which have already established branches in or sent representatives to Rumania.

American Evidence. The Rumanian representatives of a large American oil well supply company recently assisted in closing contracts amounting to several millions of dollars—most of which has already been paid in gold. It is generally understood—for use on concessions in the Baku district now being exploited by an American syndicate.

The head of the oil well supply company referred to recently passed through Rumania on his way to Russia for the negotiation of additional contracts.

There have been persistent reports of late that British interests were accumulating considerable stocks of merchandise, destined for reexportation to Russia, at the Rumanian ports of Braila and Constantza, but it has so far been impossible to secure confirmation of these reports.

ST. JOSEPH MAN SENTENCED TO TEN YEARS FOR MURDER

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., June 4.—A plea of self-defense by William Daly, tried here for killing his brother-in-law, John Scaggs of Wichita, failed, and Daly has been sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary on conviction of murder in the second degree.

Daly insisted after the shooting last July and throughout his trial, which has just ended, that he shot his brother-in-law only after Scaggs attacked him with a razor. He testified that while he was at the home of his brother, T. P. Daly, here, Scaggs struck him on the head with a club and threatened him with a razor. He admitted he fired the shot that caused Scaggs' death.

A sister of Scaggs, Mrs. T. P. Daly, in whose house the shooting occurred, said Daly walked in without explanation, held a revolver against her brother and fired. She said Daly had been drinking and was quarrelsome. Mrs. Scaggs corroborated her sister's testimony, denying that her husband attacked Daly.

JAIL NO MATRIMONIAL BUREAU

Reformatory Heads Won't Let Loner Widower Pick a Wife From inmates.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK.—Supt. T. Baker of the State Reformatory for Women in Bedford was asked by a man about 40 years old to induce one of the young women imprisoned there to marry him.

Dr. Baker retorted he was not running a matrimonial bureau. The man said he resided in Yonkers and had accumulated sufficient funds to provide a home for one of the reformatory girls who would accept his offer of marriage. He is a widower and said he was tired of living alone. Dr. Baker asked him why he came to the reformatory on such an errand.

"I've been reading that you were getting a lot of young women here and thought maybe you would be able to spare one," concluded the applicant.

AMERICAN PAINTINGS ON EXHIBIT IN PARIS

Works Easily Distinguished for Certain Liveliness and Sureness of Drawing.

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News.

PARIS, May 10.—Among the riches of paintings and acres of sculptures that this spring mark the end of the 20-year feud between the old and new Paris salons, the work of American artists stands with the best. It cannot be claimed that the 1933 spring salon reveals any remarkable genius, unless a special room devoted to the work of the great cartoonist, Forain, be excepted, but the work of the generally or artists, including the Americans, is exceptionally good. Comparatively few American sculptors are represented but upwards of 60 American painters and a fair number of etchers and engravers are well hung.

Cecilia Beaux, forsaking her almost classical early manner, shows three canvases singularly moving and lifelike. Her best portrait, "Sur la Terrasse," is a painting of a beautiful young woman in a yellow satin gown and gleaming white slippers against a background of luminous night. Her portrait of Lieutenant-Colonel Platt Andrews is also a distinguished piece of work.

Many American Exhibitors.

Another military portrait worthy of mention is that of Gen. Allen, commandant A. F. G. 1918, painted by A. Brewster Sewell. Another by Mrs. Leslie Cotton of the French General, Bertulot, unusually has an interested group before it, while her portrait of Mlle. X attracted equal attention.

As a rule, however, the Americans have not chosen portraiture for the exhibit. They show many purely American subjects such as Edgar Allan Poe's "High Sierras," William P. Sylva's three California landscapes, Frank A. Brown's "Nord des Etats Unis," and Lionel Walden's two Hawaiian scenes.

Several Americans have chosen French and especially Parisian subjects, such as Adolph Berson's Churches of Montmartre and Frank Boggs' studies of Notre Dame and the Seine. F. A. Bridgman has some vivid studies of Cairo, and the four-gout, and Albert Gihon's Canal de Bruges cannot be overlooked as a piece of fine color.

George Howland has four interesting studies of the coast of Normandy and Aston Knight, son of the veteran painter, Ridgeway Knight, exhibits four poetic canvases reflecting moods of twilight and winter bleakness. Some good interiors and still lifes by Thalia Malcolm, Minerva Chapman, M. Nelson, Eleanor Norcross and Hubert Vos are well hung. Among minor exhibits it will not do to omit mention of the youngest American painter, Miss Mardue Burrows, aged 15, who shows two creditable miniatures, one of her mother and another of a sturdy peasant. It can be said of most, if not all, of the American exhibitors that they have ceased to imitate their French masters and have really created a school of their own, purely national. One can now pick out an American painting in a crowded roomful for a certain liveliness and sureness of drawing, a sort of four-square honesty which is entirely American.

One piece of combined architecture and sculpture which is not American but which is dedicated to America is a model, 30 feet high, of a lighthouse to be erected at the Pointe de Grave on the River Gironde, to commemorate the arrival in Bordeaux of the American troops in 1918. It is the composite work of the decorators Auberlet and Laurent, the architect Ventre and the sculptors Bartolme and Bourdelle.

Dedicated to the Doughboys.

There is a decided suggestion of the Egyptian in the design and in a confined space of an exhibition it appears somewhat clumsy. But placed on an elevation well out at sea it will doubtless be quite inspirational.

Looking seaward is Bourdelle's heroic figure of militant France shading her eyes with her hands while she watches for the first sight of the approaching American transports. On the landward side of the monument are appropriate bas-reliefs and the following inscription: "To the Glory of the American Soldiers of General Pershing, Defenders of the Same Ideals of Right and Liberty Which Brought to America the 'Volunteers of Lafayette'."

The United States did not, as a matter of fact, land many troops at Bordeaux. Thousands of work troops and most of the army supplies came through the Gironde, but the great masses of fighting men landed at St. Nazaire and Brest. However, Bordeaux needed a lighthouse and ardently desired to express her gratitude for American aid in the darkest days of the world war.

REPORTERS ACCUSE POLICEMAN

Chicago Patrolman Suspended on Charge He Beat Newspapermen.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 8.—M. J. Mayo, a patrolman, was under suspension today pending an investigation by the Police Board into charges that he severely beat several local newspaper reporters, including two women writers, when they attempted to attend the examination by police of Mrs. Richard C. Tesmer last Wednesday in connection with the slaying of her husband.

In addition to beating them unmercifully with his club, the two young women told Chief of Police Collins, Mayo tore their dresses "nearly off" when they asked to go inside the Tesmer residence and then attacked several men reporters and photographers who went to their aid. Mayo said he was doing his duty by keeping press representatives away.

BROWNS 5, ATHLETICS 3, AFTER FIVE INNINGS HASTY BATTED OUT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—Big Bob Hasty and Ray Kelp were the opposing pitchers in the final game of the series here this afternoon. It was the first game of the week for the Athletics' right-hander. Kelp, however, acted as relief hurler for Urban Shooker on Tuesday, when the Browns won the only victory of the series.

Hasty played third base for the Browns.
A running account of the game follows:

FIRST INNING.
BROWNS—Tobin flied to Matthews. Gerber flied to Hauser. Jacobson flied to Welch. NO RUNS.
ATHLETICS—Matthews struck out. Hasty singled to center. Perkins walked. Hauser flied to Jacobson. Miller beat out a hit to Ezell. Welch hit to Gerber, who fumbled. Hasty scored. Galloway flied to Jacobson, who made a wonderful catch. ONE RUN.

SECOND INNING.

Eastern Book "Unable" to Pay Winning Derby Tickets on Zev; Only Amount Wagered Refunded

Winners of Bets Calling for Thousands of Dollars Are in New York Attempting to Force a Settlement—Odds Ranging From 19 to 50 to 1 Wreck J. Regan & Co.—Total Loss Not Known.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Men prominent in New York racing circles, at least the mere commercial side, are still talking of the "run out" of operators who made future book on the Kentucky Derby. It is estimated the sum may reach $100,000.

Chief of these is a concern headed by one J. Regan, which had offices in New York and which closed up shortly after the victory of the Kentucky Derby. The post odds were 19 to 1; the winter books were twice as big, at one time.

Regan, who is said to have been the directing force in the Regan company, enjoyed a reputation of paying, while he was on the metropolitan race tracks for several years. For the last two seasons he has not been seen on the courses and is said to have confined his attention to pool room interests in Jersey.

H. F. Benn of Charleston, W. Va., is one of the creditors of the J. Regan company. Mr. Benn, who is a broker, on March 31, picked Zev to win the Kentucky Derby and backed him with the J. Regan company at 50 to 1—$2,500 to $50. He interested several of his friends and they backed Zev and other horses with the same firm. Mr. Benn is now in New York trying to get his money and that of his friends.

The First Sad Tidings. On May 23, four days after the race was run, he received the following telegram:

"By the peculiar running and the large number of gamblers I received a late hour on Zev, believed to be the clever work of a company of gamblers. The J. Regan company finds it impossible to pay off the bets. The only way out is to return in full all the bets received from clients concerning commissions on Zev, and after taking the necessary time for further research, the surplus will be divided in all fairness pro rata between Zev followers."

About 25 of these telegrams were sent from one Western Union branch office.

Five days later Mr. Benn received the following telegram:

"I regret to state that those who were interested with the finances have deserted and left on my shoulders the entire burden. Therefore, it will take some time for me alone to raise the large sum required for full refunding of the Zev bets."

In addition to Mr. Benn and his friends in Charleston, who estimate their losses at $25,000, including the $1500 they sent to the J. Regan company, it is understood that the backers of Zev in Louisville and Lexington have about $25,000 coming to them.

Where Did the Money Go? On Tuesday of this week Mr. Benn received word from Charleston that telegrams had been received by him.

RAY'S COLUMN

NOW it appears that the real reason for expectation of a large attendance at the coming Dempsey-Gibbons fight, which is to take place at that little speck on the Montana map, Shelby, is that there is to be a rodeo for several days preceding the title battle.

The roundup crowd will attend the fight, it is stated, so that several thousands of fight customers are assured before a wheel is turned toward selling tickets.

The two events, serving as a joint attraction, it is supposed will be mutually helpful in dragging the elusive buck into the precincts of Shelby. Doubtless they will.

In the meantime Mike Collins and the Mayor of Shelby are hoping about the Far West in an airplane trying to wish big blocks of seats on the various Pacific Coast chambers of commerce.

All in all, the financial backers and promoters of this show ought to feel fully as secure as a one-legged man doing a tight-rope walk over Niagara.

At the present stage of proceedings it appears that the gamest man in Shelby on July 4 will be neither Dempsey nor Gibbons, but the promoter, who has to meet all comers with a check book.

Some Promotion, Bo.

COLLINS & CO., however, if they get the men as far as the ring center on the afternoon of the Fourth of July, will have passed the heart disease stage of the venture.

Articles signed agree that Dempsey is to have ALL of his $310,000 guarantee before he gets into the ring. That means the advance sales must total about $300,000 before the show begins.

This is $81,000 more than the world's championship held in Toledo attracted, with Dempsey and Williams as principals.

For Tom Gibbons and Promoter Mike Collins to have a look at real money the house will probably have to pass $600,000.

It will take both push and pull to put this across.

Registering Excitement.

DEXTER (Mo.) newspaper carried the name Siler at first base for the local club in the Los score of a recent game.

Telephone calls at the Siler home revealed that George, who is in the city and that he had gone away with Walter Fritsch, vice president of the Browns. Dependent, however, knew not where.

A lively imagination at once pictured Siler as taking a trip to the sticks to try himself out; object, to see if he had recovered sufficiently to get back into big league affairs again.

A race from Dexter dispelled the illusion. It read: "Siler was in our lineup; but he was 'Teen' Siler, a local boy, who can swing 'em a mile, too. Better send down a scout and look him over."

There may be something to that last thought. Dexter raised "Shucks" Pruett, you'll remember.

Slipping?

HARRY MCCARTHY of the Hesper soccer team, victors in the St. Louis soccer championship race this spring, is trying to strengthen his club for next season's campaign by signing three foreign-born players—two from West Frankfurt and one from the Bethlehem club. McCarthy says he needs some experienced veterans to steady his hot-spurs.

The surprising feature to St. Louis will be that the veterans sought are imported men, not home bred. St. Louis teams for years have had little or no adulteration through foreign players; and for years they have prided themselves on the fact that they needed no aid from Old Country talent to put them in the front rank.

Furthermore they proved this contention by winning two out of four championships in which they competed, tying a third and playing in the final of the remaining one.

Now we are slipping away to the point where we must have second or third rate imported stock!

And yet, the testimony shows that the Municipal Association, from which our young players are drafted, is getting stronger, and better all the time and the upcoming talent faster and faster.

Too bad if we are unable to stand longer on the old basis of teams.

The Other Side.

WHAT could happen with great profit to the local eleven, if they must import talent, would occur if the men imported were of the right sort. Undoubtedly American soccer owes much to the old country players of other days and could profitably consort with some of those of today.

We suggest, in this connection, that each of the four St. Louis teams go to the major soccer league of England and buy the residue of strictly first class players, not passe men, and pay them real salaries.

The benefit in improved technique and finesse, now lacking in the mechanics of American soccer, would more than pay for his release.

Sigel Eliminates Bryan Hill, 6-4; Cassidy Fans 14

South Side School Will Meet Winner of Chouteau-Harrison Game for Title.

Steadiness in the pinches that arise in every baseball game is seldom encountered in a grade school team. The Sigel School nine, which will play for the championship of the Public School League on Wednesday next, is possessed of stability that would do credit to a team of much older players.

Yesterday, because it played steadily and cleverly in the threatening situations, it won over Bryan Hill at Fort Park in the semifinal round by a score of 6 to 4.

The winning team holds the Post-Dispatch silver trophy for one year and the players receive individual gold medals.

Sigel got several lucky breaks in the first inning of its game with Bryan Hill yesterday and counted six times in the first inning. Thereafter Albert Hollingsworth, as excellent left-hand pitcher, settled down and held his opponents scoreless.

Six Runs in First.

In the first inning Hollingsworth hit the first batter, walked the next and then Fisher, Cassidy and Mueller singled. Two more passes followed and with the aid of two stolen bases, a wild pitch and a passed ball, six runs scored.

Sigel was stopped completely on the attack after that, but its defense was exceptional for a team of boys. Ray at third base is the infield star of the team. He fields remarkably well and has a powerful throwing arm.

Sigel scored three runs in the third on two passes, a fielder's choice, a sacrifice and a hit. It scored again in the fifth on two passes and two hits. This was the last threatening rally but Cassidy fanned Proost, the Bryan Hill cleanup hitter, for the third time with the bases filled.

Cassidy was the star of the game. He struck out 14 men, made three hits and scored one run. He fields his position faultlessly.

One of the greatest plays of the game and stopped a Bryan Hill rally in the fifth inning when he fielded a bunt down the third base line and threw to third force a runner.

The most impressive thing about the Sigel team's play is that it always does the right thing at the right time. All throws are made to the proper base and the batters hit at no-balls.

Dempsey, 'Butted' By Ring Partner, Unable to Train

Champion Wears Huge Plaster Over His Left Eye and May Rest Until Sunday.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 8.—

A vow was made today by Jack Kearns and it is this:

"Never again will I let any one spar with Jack Dempsey until I know he is a boxer and not a billy goat."

As the vow was uttered Dempsey himself joined in the chorus.

It may be recalled that Kearns permitted one Rocco Stragaglia to mingle blows with the "Utah mailer," Wednesday, since which time the following untoward things have happened in the Dempsey camp:

A world's champion wears a huge plaster over his left eye, thus hiding while healing the abrasion caused by the aforesaid Stragaglia; Dempsey had to knock off needed sparring Thursday because of the bruise on his eye and probably won't work in the ring again until Sunday or Monday, perhaps later.

And the monetary loss will be probably $500. It costs $50 to see Dempsey do the "loop the loop" and his other tricks. If he does not do them the cash customers do not drop around. The daily receipts run in the neighborhood of $150 to $200, which means that if Dempsey is forced to lay off three or four days there'll be quite a few hundred less dollars in the bank roll than if Stragaglia had not butted the champion.

Or didn't he butt? Did this unknown really rip open the champion's skin with a blow? Some folks allow he did—that it was not a butt at all, but just a plain wallop.

But Kearns holds to his first finding: Dempsey was butted, and repeated: "No more billy goats."

Gowdy and Watson For Barnes, Smith

By the Associated Press. BOSTON, June 8.—The first of several pending trades between major league baseball clubs before the time limit expires in which they can exchange players for the season, has been concluded. It was announced last night. It was an even trade between the Boston and New York National League Clubs, which is looked upon by local critics as strengthening the downcast Braves.

The deal involves two battery sets. Pitcher Hank Watson and Catcher Hank Gowdy of Boston for Pitcher Jess Barnes and Catcher Earl Smith.

On present form and future prospects the two players Boston gets are believed to be superior in ability to the pair New York receives.

It is a homecoming for Gowdy and Barnes. Hank was with the Giants before he became one of baseball's immortals by doing heroic work in the 1914 world's series with Manager Stallings' "Miracle Team."

Later he was the first major league player to volunteer in the war.

The other catcher, Earl Smith, has better prospects than has Gowdy at this stage of his career. If it had not been for an acute ability to anchor, he would have been a star.

Manager John McGraw, Smith might have become first string catcher of the Giants.

Jess Barnes also was a world's series hero in the first series against the Yankees in which he did meritorious work. But last year, though he stood high among the moundmen of the league, he was not as effective as formerly, and in the world's series he pitched the only game.

With a heavy hitting, good fielding team like the world's champions

Two Golfers Play 216 Holes in 15 Hours Breaking World Record

HOUSTON, Texas, June 8.—AN KENNEY and William Lundberg, Texas, professional, set a new world's record for a two-man golf match over the Glenbrook Country Club course yesterday when they played 216 holes.

The men played from 4:30 a. m. until 8 o'clock, 15 hours of continuous play. They were fed while they played and the only stops were to change shoes.

The nine-hole course is 3000 yards long and 24 rounds were played, the players thus walking about 45 miles. The distance from tee to green on the 216 holes totaled about 41 miles and four miles are added as the approximate extra distance between the greens and the following tees.

Kenney averaged 38.3 strokes a nine-hole round and Lundberg 41.7 strokes. The golfers carried four clubs each and caddies worked in relays. Four caddies located tee shots. Kenney's best round was a par of 35 and Lundberg's a 36. Kenney made a 28 on the first nine holes of the last round. Flashlights lighted the green on the last hole, so puts could be seen.

"Mule" Watson, the flinger who becomes a Giant, may become a hero also. He has pitched good ball with a weak team and has put some heart into his work, but he got along with Manager Fred Mitchell about as well as Smith did with McGraw.

ATHLETES OF SOUTH TO COMPETE AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, June 8.—College athletes of the South will compete with the pick of the talent of the colleges and universities of the entire country in the national collegiate track and field meet here, June 15 and 16. The competition, under the jurisdiction of the National Collegiate Amateur Athletic Union, already has enlisted 48 institutions from 23 states. Among those who will participate are record holders and leading performers in practically every event on the card. The meet will be held on Stagg Field, at the University of Chicago.

Among the entries already received is that of the University of Texas.

LASTLONG for COMFORT

A Plea For Your Men's Furnishing Store

It is impossible for a dealer to carry every brand, style and size of underwear made—the investment is too great.

But the average live dealer wants your trade and wants to accommodate you. So if your dealer doesn't carry Lastlong in stock, he will gladly order some for you rather than lose your trade.

The better class stores know Lastlong Union Suits are made from the best feather-weight, flat-knit cotton fabric produced in the U. S. A.

They sell Lastlong to men who will not wear the clammy, sticky woven fabric underwear.

Made in short sleeve, three-quarter leg; athletic style suits and athletic shirts and drawers for men. Boys' athletic union suits. Popular prices.

If your dealer does not sell Lastlong give him an opportunity to order some for you from his wholesaler.

REQUIRES AVIATORS TO GET LICENSES

REGULATIONS IN EFFECT JULY 1

Purpose of Legislation Is to Protect Public From Risking Lives With Inexperienced Flyers.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TOPEKA, Kan.—The Kansas aviation law is to be made effective July 1. This was the announcement of R. Neill Rahn, Adjutant-General of the Kansas National Guard, and the chief enforcement officer named by the law. Kansas is one of the first states to enact legislation relating to the operation of airplanes.
It is not "freak" legislation, but is a real law intended to protect the public from possible danger and also to protect the owners and operators of flying machines.

The law is to be enforced by the Adjutant-General, assisted by a board of three members, of which he is to be chairman. One member of the board is required to be a technical engineering expert and the third member must be a man with actual experience in flying.
There are two airplane factories in Kansas from which the technical engineer may be obtained and the Adjutant-General is preparing to name an ex-service man who had experience in flying during the war
as the third member of the board.

Provisions of Law

The law requires that every airplane pilot operating in Kansas must take an examination and show his fitness to handle aircraft before he can have a license and no airplane can be operated within the State unless the pilot has a license from the state board. It is the plan of the Adjutant-General to use an aircraft engineer and a practical flying man to give the tests to be required before a license can be issued and it will be possible to determine the ability of the pilot and the qualities of his machine before he can be licensed to fly in this State, either by giving exhibitions or for carrying passengers. Persons undergoing instruction in flying cannot be given licenses until they have reached the stage where they are able to make "solo" flights.

Licenses are to be required for the machines also and plates similar to those used for motor cars are to be attached to each plane. These craft licenses are to be obtained by the manufacturer or the owner of the machine and are to be issued only when the board is satisfied as to the strength and flying ability of the machine. A technical engineer would be required to make specific tests of the machine to determine its air-worthiness.

Protection for Public

Aviators visit many picnic and fairs in the State during the summer and fall months. Some of them are stunt flyers, while others carry passengers for short flights. The law is intended to afford a measure of protection to the public. By requiring the pilot to take out a license before they operate in Kansas the board will be satisfied as to the ability of the pilot to handle his machine and a plane with a license tag attached will be a notice to the public that the pilot knows the business of flying and may be expected to handle his machine in a careful manner.

"Stunts" Over Cities Barred.

"Stunt" flying is absolutely prohibited over the cities of the State or over places where considerable numbers of persons congregate. This section of the law was adopted as the result of several crashes of airplanes into crowds at various points in the country.

The law specifically prohibits any aerial acrobatics over the limits of any city at any time. It also requires that in flying over any city or over any crowd a plane must be kept at such a height that in case of engine failure it can glide into open spaces in an emergency. It is specifically required that no plane fly over any city at lower than 1000 feet up. This altitude ordinarily would permit any machine to glide to an open field in the event the motor stopped or there was other accident.

The flyers are to keep away from farm properties also, so that the machine will not frighten farm animals. There have been several cases where machines flying very low have caused stampedes of farm animals.
The law does not prohibit an aviator landing in a field or pasture, but it intends to keep the machines away from the farm buildings where stock
may be penned up.

There is one important feature in the law which does not regulate the flying of aircraft. This permits the cities of the State to vote bonds or make special tax levies in order to purchase or lease suitable landing fields for aviators. Several cities of the State have maintained aviation fields through contributions from business men. The new law will enable the cities themselves to buy or lease suitable grounds where airplanes may land or take off and the cities are given authority to make such necessary regulations as they desire relating to these fields.

TWO VIEWS OF MYSTERIOUS ARABIAN CLAIMANT IN MISSOURI WILL CASE

Harry Lello Zeitun of London, sole beneficiary under two wills and claimant of the $500,000 estate of Mrs. Julia Woods Davies of Excelsior Springs. He is said to have introduced himself to Mrs. Davies as a former captain in the British Army and attaché of Scotland Yard detective bureau. George Westlain Davies of St. Louis fourth husband of Mrs. Davies and beneficiary under a prior will, has stated that his wife had been under the "hypnotic influence" of Zeitun; that she had been given drugs, and was mentally incompetent when she made the wills favoring Zeitun. Davies also has stated that he has information that Zeitun was an adventurer who specialized in duping women and gullible persons of their savings. Zeitun, through American counsel, is seeking to enforce the terms of his will and have Davies ousted as administrator of the estate under the Davies will. Mrs. Davies was a daughter of the late Dr. William S. Woods, a Kansas City banker.

PLASTER SAINTS

By Frederic Arnold Kummer

CHAPTER VIII. (Continued)

She burst upon Douglas, radiantly attractive, smiling as though there had never been the suspicion of a quarrel. Having made up her mind to win him back, she did not mean to begin with recriminations. When he gripped her hand and met her eyes he was conscious of a distinct shock. Never had he seen her look so daringly attractive, and yet there was a faint undercurrent of uneasiness in his pleasure. Perhaps he sensed telepathically her determination to win him back and, in a masculine way, feared it. Heretofore he had always been the pursuer, had felt that Jean was different from other women.

When they had secured a table, and ordered cakes and tea, Jean spoke at once of the matter uppermost in her mind.

"Douglas," she said, "I'm sorry I did not answer your letter before. I want to tell you why I did not. I thought you had fallen in love with that Welsh girl."

"You mean the dancer? But why? Just because you happened to see us together that day?"

"Yes—that, and other things." She explained about the letter. "I was all wrong, of course. I believe what you wrote about that—that night. Of course, you did a very foolish thing, but I've made up my mind to forgive you."

Douglas regarded her with some eyes.

"Thanks, Jean," he said. "It's very sweet of you. But I know how your mother and all your family feel."

"I don't care how they feel. I've made up my mind to live my own life from now on. Anyway, I'm sure that mother and grandfather will both come around in time. I'm going to have a talk with them and tell them the exact truth about the whole thing."

"Wait a minute, Jean," Douglas nervously said for the task before him. "Of course, I'd be glad to have your family feel differently about me, but it isn't going to make things any better after—after what I've got to do."

"After what you've got to do? I don't understand."

"Of course you don't. But I'll try to explain. You see, your grandfather has—has done something that is going to get him into a great deal of trouble—something illegal—I can't tell you just what it is, and it's up to me—to expose him. Of course, after that, you couldn't possibly have anything more to do with me, so you see—"

He hesitated as he saw the look of horror on her face.

"My grandfather has done something illegal? I don't believe it. He's one of the best men in the world. Of course I know his ideas about religion and things are narrow, old-fashioned, but he simply couldn't do anything wrong. Why—he's one of the biggest men in his church—he built it."

"I know. But building churches doesn't make a man good. It's a deeper thing than that. Charly towards one's fellowmen—"

"Oh!" Jean interrupted. "You think he should have been more charitable towards you?"

"No. I wasn't thinking of myself at all. I was afraid you'd say that. It's one of the reasons I'm telling you what I am. I want you to believe me when I say that my personal feelings have nothing whatever to do with the matter. I'm thinking of my duty to the public."

Jean sat gazing at him in amazement. The whole interview had taken a course entirely opposite to that which she had anticipated. She felt that in coming to him with offers of forgiveness she had made great concessions. She had expected repentance, gratitude, a renewal of their former loverlike relations. And instead she found accusations against the character of a member of her family. Instead of admitting his guilt, Douglas was himself the accuser. She could not understand the matter at all.

"It seems to me, Douglas," she said, "that instead of making vague insinuations against my grandfather you had better tell me what you think he has done. I'm sure that whatever it is it can be readily explained."

The hopelessness of the situation made Douglas sick at heart. He could not be more explicit regarding Mr. Carrington; already he feared he had said too much. If Jean were to discuss the matter with her grandfather he might find some way to escape from the situation he was in.

"Jean," he said, "I can't tell you any more. I've said what I have because I wanted you to know that I haven't been actuated by any small or mean motives of revenge. Your grandfather kicked me out, as he might have kicked out an office boy, in spite of my 12 years of service with the Continental. Just because I had made one slip. Perhaps he was right, although he might have been more charitable. But when a man poses before the community as an apostle of righteousness, he has got to keep his own skirts clean. He can't afford to be a hypocrite. It may be a very great sin to take a drink or two—I'm not attempting to defend it. But there are sins against others that are immeasurably greater. No doubt the public at large thinks your grandfather a very good man and Oliver Blair a reprobate, but between the two men I prefer Mr. Blair's type of goodness. I don't think the smug Puritanism that Mr. Carrington represents is a good thing for this country, and I'm going to fight it with all the energy at my command."

Jean picked up her gloves. She was bitterly disappointed. Romance between them now had been wrecked on the rocks of stern reality. She felt that there was nothing more to say.

"I think I had better go," she rose suddenly from the table. "I don't know what all this means, but if you have declared war on my family, I've got to take their part. Will you please get me a cab?"

Douglas paid his check and conducted her to the door in silence. He, too, could think of nothing more to say. It seemed to him that even when Jean came to know that his accusations were true, she could never bring herself to forgive him for his part in the matter. He felt, when she left him, that she had never appeared more desirable; he longed to take her in his arms, blot out the suffering he saw in her eyes with his kisses. Instead, he had not even taken her hand. He had declared war on her family, she said; no longer could she look upon him even as a friend.

To Be Continued in the Post-Dispatch.

How to Serve Mushrooms

In selecting fresh mushrooms be sure they are young and have red gills. Cut off the stalk which grows underground, wash the mushrooms and remove the skin from the top. They may be stewed, broiled or fried. To stew them, add a little salted water and when tender add butter blended with browned flour. To serve with steak or chops, peel them, then dip into melted butter and broil. Arrange them around the meat. To fry, cut them into large pieces and lightly fry in butter. Serve on rounds of toast.

Mushroom Soup.

One pound of mushrooms, peeled, washed and cut fine. Cover with one quart white stock and cook until tender. Either veal or chicken will make good stock or the chicken bouillon cubes may be used. When cooked, press them through a sieve and return to kettle. Add three tablespoonfuls of sage and cook 20 minutes longer; season and add one quart hot milk, then simmer five minutes. Beat two or three eggs in a bowl and gradually stir in sufficient of the soup to fill the bowl. Slowly mix this with the soup in the kettle and remove from the fire at once.

Creamed Mushrooms.

Mix one cup of milk, one-half cup cream, one tablespoon butter and salt to taste. Bring to a boil, then add one-half pound mushrooms, washed and peeled, and simmer 20 minutes. Put the mushrooms on toast and pour the sauce over them.

Mushroom Sauce.

Melt 1-2 tablespoonfuls butter with two tablespoonfuls flour and stir until brown, add 1-2 cupfuls brown or white stock, 1 bay leaf and a slice of onion and add one cup mushrooms; season with salt and cayenne pepper or Worcestershire sauce, add a few drops of lemon juice and serve. If canned mushrooms are used slice them; if fresh ones they must be peeled, cut into small pieces and cooked five minutes in a little butter before adding to the sauce.

THE LOVE LETTERS OF SARAH BERNHARDT

Intimate Revelations of the Famous Tragedienne's Greatest and Longest Love Affair.

For six years Sarah Bernhardt, at the zenith of her career and charm and beauty, gave her heart into the keeping of Pierre Berton, the author of Zaza. With the world at her feet, she chose the obscure author, whom she made rich and famous. Then came the estrangement. Disillusioned, heart-broken, she thereafter closed her heart to real love, of which, she confessed, she was no longer capable. Her letters to Berton, now being published in America for the first time, vividly portray her emotions and reflect the whole course of the "mad" love affair. They were translated by her personal friend, M. Dorian, the author and critic.

THE BERNHARDT LOVE LETTERS.

My Dear Peter:

I beg you, whatever you do, not to attribute to indifference or to forgetfulness or to any alteration in my attitude towards you the infrequency of my letters nowadays. Last night I was sweating in work, rehearsing until 4 o'clock this morning. I hope you will forgive me for talking about myself. I do it simply in order to tell you how my time is spent, to substantiate my claim to your pardon. At half-past 4, then, I arrived home. Jaki (Jaki was a Moroccan or Algerian woman who was with Bernhardt for more than 20 years) was waiting for me and excitedly ran to the door trembling and swearing that she had been unable to sleep because she had dreamed that I had been arrested in men's clothes. It was so funny. She has the imagination and all the mystical ways and superstitions and beliefs in dreams of her compatriots who live in the Orient. The idea of my playing a man's role impressed her as something that was dangerous and certain to cause me trouble. She has dreamed about it several times before. Well, back to my story. Jaki gave me some coffee and brought out some letters that had arrived during the afternoon, which I proceeded to read. There were also the manuscripts of two plays. A young Belgian named Toulain was at a dinner the other night as a guest of V. S. (Victorien Sardou) and told me that he had sent me the manuscript of a play that he had done for me. V. S. had been pleased with it and asked him to forward it to me. He writes under another name, and what that name was I didn't hear, so confused we all were and hurried. Well, he is coming to lunch with us at the theater tomorrow and I wanted to have read it to report on it as soon as possible in order that he could place it with somebody else in the event I could not use it. He came here from Brussels just to sell it and was acquainted with V. S. and, of course, went to him first. And, of course, he turned him over to me. The ugly part of the story is the infidelity of my memory, for now that I come to think of it, I was told what his non-de-plume was and remember even to have said that it was very poetic or romantic or something else with one of those indefinite endings. At any rate, having forgotten the name I was compelled to read both of the plays in order to know next day the one by our young Monsieur Toulain.

I had more coffee in the meantime and entered my lavender scented sheets at 8 this morning. At 10 a costumeur (two costumeurs they were as a matter of fact—plagues come not in single file any more than blessings) came and after declaring at the door that they had come on the morning train from Madrid in answer to an urgent message from me by wire and that they would be forced to take the afternoon train back, they were admitted. They were announced by their respective, elegantly Spanish sounding names, and I was asked to go out and see them. I had, as a matter of fact, been having some correspondence with some Spanish skirt makers, as I hope to put on that fragment of Riset that you saw, some time next month. The costumes required are pretty much the same as those used in Carmen. It might well happen that those people whom I had been writing to would have other business bringing them to Paris and would come to see me while here by way of doing two things at one time. I went to the door and clandestinely listened to their conversation to reassure myself as people have so many keenly devised ways of approaching me when they know that I do not want to see them. They were actually talking Spanish, or what I thought was Spanish. I went out to see them at once. And the scenes that followed took more life out of me than 40 death scenes. I had to put them out, both of them, myself. And there are two more people in the world that will not say that Sarah's voice possesses any of the attributes of divinity. As you have already surmised, they were not costumers at all. They were just two horrible Jew wigmakers who have been after me about an old account since the dim days of the past when I still retained my front teeth and a piece of reputation. I do not boast any extraordinary intelligence. What I have achieved I have achieved by hard work, of course, but I have had luck all my life, and that always accounts for one's prosperity more than anything else. Balsac said that genius was hard work. Napoleon said that it was opportunity; someone said that it was patience, another tolerance, another ambition. There are hundreds of other definitions for the word in a little anthology of sayings about genius which an unknown admirer across the sea sent me not long ago for one of my birthdays and which young Monsieur West has put into beautiful and inspiring French for me. But my own definition has yet to be added to them and I am going to write in the end of the little book, "Sarah thinks that there is no genius after luck, and no misfortune beyond the absence of it."

But that is not what I wanted to say at all. I was saying that I had no extraordinary mind. I haven't. But I would think myself beyond being outwitted by a wigmaker. Experience, alas! contrary to the proverb, teaches a poor school. These two have trapped me before. You know. It was at the theater. They were in ambush behind the automobile that waited at the door for me. In London an agent of Clarkson did the same thing once. (Clarkson is the well known wigmaker in Wardour street, London, the foundation stone of whose new building was laid by Bernhardt a few years ago in exchange for a cancellation of her long-neglected account with him for more than £2000, which was for wigs delivered to her more than 20 years before. It had been agreed upon that she would come to lay the stone in absolute privacy, the wigmaker assuring Bernhardt that no one beyond the two directly concerned in the matter would know anything about her appearance there that day. Clarkson arranged to send his automobile to her hotel for her at a certain hour. Two hours beforehand he telephoned to all the papers in London, asking them to have representatives on hand, and had no less than five photographers making moving pictures of the event. When the actress arrived she was horrified and asked the chauffeur to return to her hotel with her at once. But the wise Clarkson had given his driver orders in advance, as he knew about what was going to happen when she faced the crowd. She said, "You have double-crossed me, monsieur," to Clarkson. "Well, Madame, you have double-crossed me more than once. You have either to do this now or make a fool of yourself." And Bernhardt did not fancy the idea of seeing the story of her forgotten debts on the front pages of all the papers next day and laid the stone. Clarkson is alleged to have said fairly recently that it was the most fortunate thing that could ever have happened for him, as his business increased from that day on, until now, when he has not adequate space for his tremendous and ever-growing business. But I had been told of his presence outside, and made my escape in men's clothes. But I just wanted to tell you about the two rascals who came today. As I have told you, I went to bed at 10 this morning and was up at 8. I just want to show you where my time goes. I have done nothing since putting these two intruders into the street by the scruff of their necks except eat a glass of cheese and drink a glass of vermouth and write this letter. I have been writing it for nearly two hours. It is nearly 3, and as I have an engagement for 2 I will make my excuses and promise to write again before so long, and, of course, I will do for your friend anything I can when he presents himself. He has not called yet. Tell me what you are writing. Algiers must be lovely now. Saint-Saens has a villa there and is probably there now. If you hear that he is and wish it, I will send you a letter to him. He is worth knowing. SARAH.

Littlest Bear Is Soundly Spanked

By Thornton W. Burgess

The disobedient soon or late Will find that sorrow is their fate.

MOTHER BEAR wanted fish and she meant to catch fish. Long ago she learned the value of patience, though she naturally has little of it. No one can be a successful fisherman who lacks patience. So she waited motionless beside the Laughing Brook where the water was very shallow. Twice fish had started up through that shallow water only to be frightened back by Littlest Bear, who, because Mother Bear had spoiled her, had not yet learned to mind.

Each time Mother Bear had warned Littlest Bear. Now you would have thought that that second warning would have been sufficient. It was for a while. But Littlest Bear's memory was short. Besides, she had always done as she pleased. She thought this fishing very tiresome business. Brother and Sister had wisely laid down to rest. Littlest Bear didn't want to rest. It wasn't long before, for a third time, she began prowling about restlessly.

This time, however, she took care not to go near the Mother Bear. In fact, she kept away from her. But there was very tantalizing about water. She wanted to see the fish. So she kept drawing nearer to it. But she good care to make sure would attract Mother's attention. At last she was on the edge of the water and Mother Bear was staring at her.

Mother Bear was staring at her. A big fish had just been caught. But she got it again in a moment for Mother Bear followed up that with a good sound spanking. "Oh!" cried Littlest Bear. Mother Bear whirled. Be-

Littlest Bear knew what was happening. Mother Bear had cuffed sharply. It was the first time Mother Bear had ever cuffed like that, and for an instant, quite lost her voice with surprise. But she got it again in a moment for Mother Bear followed up that with a good sound spanking. It was the first spanking Littlest Bear ever had received, for she had been spoiled by Mother Bear.

"Go up in that tree over there and don't you come down until I tell you can!" said Mother Bear.

The Glory of Loyalty

By WINIFRED BLACK

THE man of affairs was busy. Very busy, indeed. He didn't have time to see the committee from the City Hall. He didn't have a minute to talk things over with the outside manager of his own business from another district.

He didn't want to bother with the manager of his ranch—the ranch that is the comfort of his busy days. He had his income tax to make out, and his attorney to see and letters to write, and he hadn't an instant to give to any one on earth. And then the telephone rang, and the man of affairs frowned—listened impatiently at first—it was the stenographer's business to stand between him and interruptions; why did she allow him to be bothered? And then his face cleared and his sharp eyes softened and his voice was like the voice of a different human being.

"Yes, yes," he said. "Thank you for telling me; I'm glad to know." And then he rang up his favorite florist and ordered a basket of spring flowers to be sent to a modest little hotel in a quiet part of the city.

And those who heard the name of the woman to whom the flowers were to be sent felt a sudden stirring of the heartstrings.

He Sent Spring Flowers.

For the woman is a widow—no longer young and never particularly interesting.

But it was her husband who gave the man of affairs his first start in life, years ago, and every once in a while, when she comes to the city from her quiet home in a near-by suburb, she sees the man of affairs and talks with him about old times.

This time she knew that he was very busy and she did not call him up, but some one saw her on the street slipping by in her unobtrusive dress and quiet way, and that nice person made it a point to telephone the man of affairs and tell him that his old friend, the widow, was in town. And he sent her the spring flowers and a little note and some tickets for the theater—and she went home from her little visit with her heart warm because one who knew the man who had been all the world to her—remembered.

People are a good deal afraid of the man of affairs. He has the reputation of a fighter and a bad man in a quarrel.

He doesn't forget an injury, they say, and he is always quick to take advantage of the least weakness of his opponent.

Almost a Divine Radiance.

Shrewd, worldly, brilliant, successful—so I have always known this man of affairs.

I'm glad I sat in his office and heard his voice soften when he listened to the message over the telephone. I'm glad I heard him order that basket of spring flowers for the widow of the man who befriended him when he was young and ambitious and without place or power.

The next time I see his picture in the papers I shall shut my eyes and think of him, not as he looks in the world of business—but as he looked that morning when he spoke the name of his old friend and sent the flowers to his old friend's rather uninteresting little widow.

Fidelity, gratitude, loyalty—what difference does it make, the name you call it? What a quality it is, and how it touches the meager, selfish lives of ours with something almost like a divine radiance.

A most unusual job is that held by Miss H. Fern Peck as State Seed Analyst in the Department of Agriculture of the Nebraska University. The work in the department is to test seeds and to aid farmers in securing profitable crops.

Is Your Skin Too Dry

By Lucrezia Bori.

"O H, dear!" I heard some one complaining the other day. "Each season seems to bring its complexion difficulties. When winter was here, I thought there was nothing in the world more detrimental to a beautiful skin than cold winter winds. Now I think warm winds are just as bad."

"And in winter you always wear a hat out, and perhaps a veil, so it doesn't matter so much. But in summer you're likely to go hatless, and you're outdoors so much of the time that your complexion is bound to suffer."

Most women took very attractive, it is true, in a breezy out-of-door costume, hatless, and with soft wavy hair becomingly arranged. But the sunshine, which brings beauty to flowers and grass, does not always have the same beautifying effect upon woman.

The person who lives much of her time in the outdoors has a healthy sparkle in her eyes and a glow in her cheeks that are indescribably charming.

But if you have lived more or less the life of a hothouse plant all during the winter months, your reaction to the first hatless days may not be the most encouraging.

Your skin may peel and your lips may chap. You'll just about decide you are not the "outdoor type," when presto, you seem to become acclimated, your beauty reasserts itself, and all is well.

While you are going through this adjustment to your new surroundings, you may take certain beauty precautions that will help you through the first difficult days.

For instance, here is a lotion that I'm sure you will find excellent if your skin is inclined to dryness and peeling:

Glycerin ..... 2 ounces
Lime-water ..... 2 ounces
Mix the two together and apply the lotion to your skin about twice a day, or just after you wash it. This will help you to keep your skin smooth and soft and free from those unattractive little bits of dry "skin" which scale up from the surface of your once smooth complexion and make it look for all the world like a bit of ratine material.

Don't drink too much tea or coffee, though you may partake of these beverages in moderation without hurting your complexion.

Then, too, remember that late hours are the greatest enemies to a beautiful complexion. You must have plenty of refreshing sleep in an airy, well-ventilated room if you want a complexion that resembles the rose petal and defies the elements.

IT VERY OFTEN PROVES FATAL.

A LITERAL and simple-minded man, by birth a German, sent his wife to the hospital for an operation. The operation was performed in the forenoon. In the afternoon, when he quit work, the husband called to inquire how the patient had stood the ordeal. The nurse told him that she seemed to be improving.

Early the next morning he was on hand asking for the latest tidings from the sickroom, and again he was informed that his wife still seemed to be improving. Twice daily all through the week he received similar reports.

But one morning when he called he was met with the distressing news that she had passed away. In a daze the widower started down the street to find an undertaking establishment. On the way he met an acquaintance and the latter said:

"Well, how's your wife today?"

"She is dead," answered the bereft one.

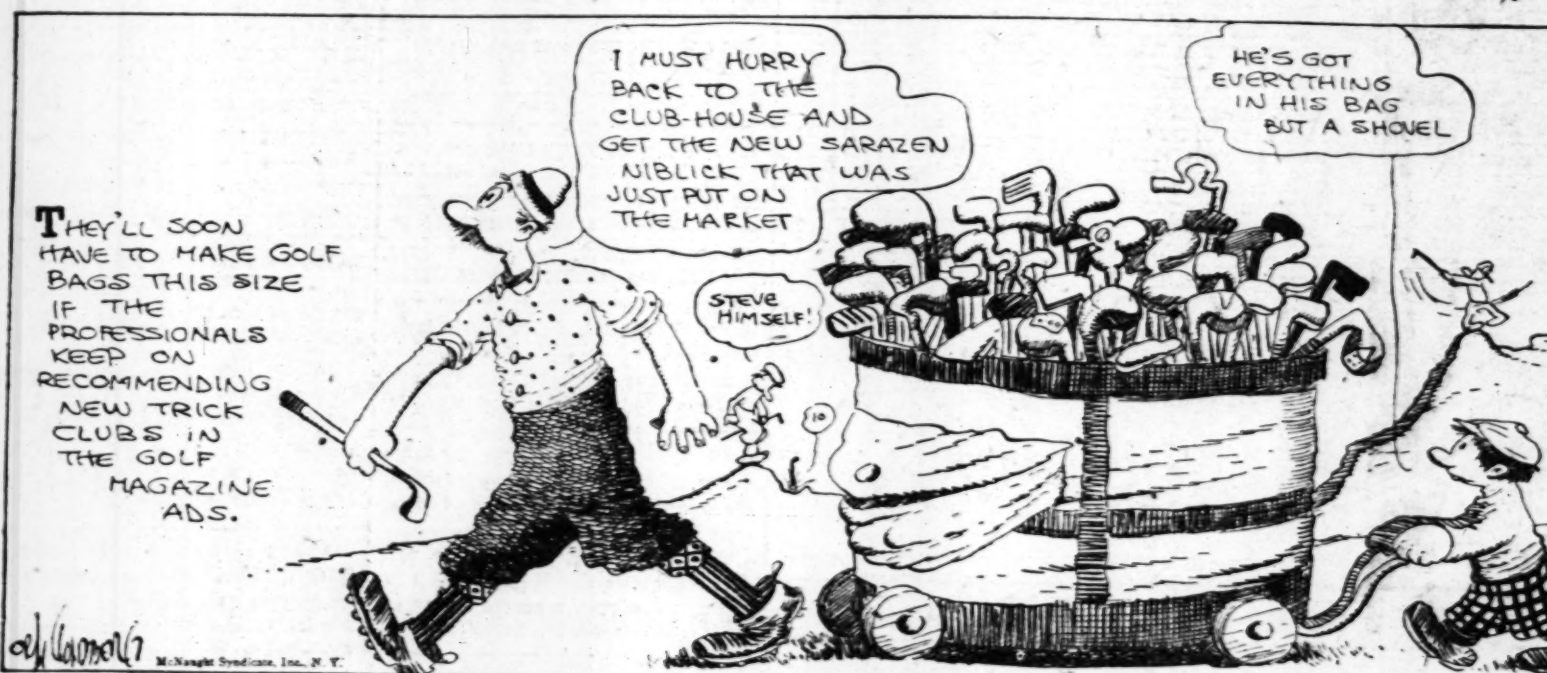

"Ach," said his friend. "That's too bad. I thought she was getting better."

Mussolini Asserts Germany Can Pay a Definite Sum Cuno Believes That Next Move Toward Solution Is Up to Britain.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, June 8.—Premier Poincaré rejected the German reparations proposals last night in his official expression since the receipt of the note from Berlin, which appeared before the Senate Commission on Foreign Affairs. Finance to answer a long questionaire on the operations in the Ruhr. The Premier said the French Government had agreed not to consider any proposal of Chancellor Cuno unless it was preceded by complete and final cessation of the German passive resistance campaign. He assured the Senate that the Government's negotiations with the Belgians were satisfactory and that every effort was being made to hasten the solution of this vexing problem.

Germany Ought to Pay a Precise Sum, Says Mussolini.
By the Associated Press.
ROME, June 8.—Germany ought to pay a precise sum in reparations which should be officially acknowledged, and which should be quite a different sum from the several hundred billion marks spoken of following the signing of the armistice," according to a statement made by Premier Mussolini in addressing the Senate yesterday. Referring to Germany's note on reparations, the Premier said: "Yesterday evening Ambassador Neurath presented the new German note, the contents of which I cannot disclose until the necessary diplomatic conversations have taken place. 'I will simply say that in the Germany no longer requires' the prelude to the opening of negotiations the gradual evacuation of Ruhr. This lends support to the belief that Germany is prepared to announce its policy of passive resistance, the utility of which, even German ends, becomes increasingly doubtful, and which, if brought to an end, would help hasten the solution of this vexing problem."

Italy's Stand on Problem.
The Premier added that Italy to her previous belief that reparations and interrelated debts were intimately connected. The necessity of today, he said, was a political action of a kind which would serve to bring about normal as rapidly as possible the situation on the European continent. "Italy's prime interest is to hasten the peaceful settlement of the European crisis, which signing of the treaty at Versailles has been dominated by the question of reparations," the Premier declared. He then outlined Italy's stand on European problems.

"First—Germany can and should pay a precise sum, as reparations which should be officially acknowledged and which should be quite a different sum from the several hundred billion marks spoken of following the signing of the armistice."

"Second—Italy will not support territorial order, being able to put out her scheme of a military and political reconstruction."

"Third—Italy is disposed to sacrifice should be necessary economic reconstruction of Germany."

"Fourth—The Italian Government maintains today more than ever, as regards the last point, that the problems of reparations and interrelated debts are intimately connected, and, in fact, interdependent."
